Thousands Attend Dr. King's Funeral

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The jostling throngs that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. attracted in life crowded in great masses today to his funeral services.

Inside Ebenezer Baptist Church, the quiet strains of organ music drifted over an invitation-only audience that included Vice President Humphrey and some of America's best known persons.

Notables Attend Rites

Outside, people stood by the thousands in numbers so huge that police strained to push through with such notables as Mrs. John F. Kennedy and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The crowd-estimated by a police lieutenant at 50,000 over a 10-block area—cheered each famous arrival. Many of the cheers were children's piping voices.

Mrs. Kennedy was jostled slightly as she arrived after a brief visit with Mrs. King. Soon after Mrs. Kennedy departed, Mrs. King left for the church.

The day was warm and bright.

Crowd Delays Services

After the funeral services, a farm wagon drawn by two Georgia mules carries King's body through Atlanta streets. But the crowd was so dense that the wagon—a faded old green mule cart—was delayed getting to the church.

King had planned to send mule trains to Washington during a demonstration this spring to dramatize his demands for jobs or income for the poor.

"We agreed nothing would be more symbolic than this for his last ride," said Dr. William Rutherford, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Humphrey Attends Services

The vice president got to the church, where King was copastor with his father, only minutes before services began. He was representing President Lyndon Johnson.

The services were led by King's associate and successor at SCLC, the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, and the Rev. William Holmes Borders.

The number of the mourners in the church was limited to 1,300—the church's seating capacity.

The 10:30 a.m. funeral service for the 39-year-old Nobel Peace Prize recipient who was killed by a sniper Thursday night in Memphis Tenn., is brief—at Mrs. King's request.

After the service, thousands of mourners planned to march through the streets in procession behind the mule-drawn wagon containing King's body for a 2 p.m. public service in the quadrangle of Morehouse College.

It was at Morehouse that King earned his bachelor's degree and first shaped his doctrine of peaceful social dissent. Dr Benjamin Mays, retired president of Morehouse and one of King's college instructors, leads the public service.

Afterward the funeral cortege will go by car to the South View Cemetery, five miles from the college, where King will be entombed in a marble mausoleum on a grassy hillside.

Mercer Apprehended Behind School

Another Of Jail Escapees Found Asleep In Car Here

Literally caught napping after three weeks of freedom, an 18-year-old escapee was returned to the County Jail at Lisbon early today following his recapture by an East Liverpool patrolman, assisted by sheriff's deputies and Ohio Highway Patrol officers.

Charles Mercer Jr. of 130 Ravine St., the fifth in a group of six who sawed their way out of the jail the night of March 18, surrendered meekly at 3:23 a.m. after Patrolman Jack Strobel spotted him asleep in a parked auto in E. Church Ln., directly behind the Central School.

MERCER was returned to the jail in Lisbon to face additional charges of escape from confinement. He previously had pleaded guilty to a burglary Dec. 27 at Pickens' Grocery and a robbery Jan. 2 at the Humble Service Station on E. 3rd St. at Broadway.

The only escapee still at large is Mark F. Heverly, 22, of 524 New York Ave., Sebring. He had been confined on a charge of burglary Feb. 15 at the Russell Reichenbach home in North Georgetown.

Strobel was on routine cruiser patrol when he spotted Mercer's 17-year-old four-door sedan parked in the alley back of the school. He sent a radio call to headquarters. Within moments, he was joined by Sheriff's Deputies Herman (Cy) Wellman and Dan Gartland and two patrol officers who were at the local station, along with Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr. and Patrolman Leonard Richard.

The cordon of officers surrounded the auto and Strobel then awakened Mercer. The youth surrendered meekly. He was handcuffed and turned over to the deputies, who returned him to the County Jail a short time later.

Strobel said the distinctive 1951 model auto which Mercer was using helped him spot the sleeping fugitive.

THE OTHERS who fled the jail three weeks ago and who have been returned to custody are:

Dennis Dale Hunter, 18, of 211 W. 8th St., Salem; Vernon Kubankin, 19, of Hartley Rd., Salem RD 1, Lester L. Donahue, 22, of 637 River Rd., and Alan W. Jarvis, 18, of 1605 Chester Ave., Wellsville.

Three of the escapees were returned to custody the night of March 19. Donahue surrendered himself at a farm home near Teegarden, north of Lisbon. Jarvis surrendered himself to Wellsville police and the Salem police department picked up Kubankin at a house trailer on Salem Heights. Hunter was taken off a bus at Columbus on March 21.

Donahue and Jarvis were sentenced to 1-5-year terms in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon last week on charges of escaping from confinement. They waived the usual grand jury procedure and were taken to court on a so-called prosecutor's information. Hearings are pending for the other three.

Hunter and Kubankin were jailed originally on a charge of burglary at Ivan's Used Furniture Store in Salem. Donahue was returned from Lima State Hospital March 12 and was awaiting a hearing for probation violation. He had pleaded

Youngstown Reported As Near Normal After Gunfire Wounds 2 Policemen, Man

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Teams of police and National Guardsmen patroled three sections of Youngstown today after a flurry of gunfire Monday wounded three men, including two policemen.

As a 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew ended, police said today the situation appeared to be returning to normal.

"We have had hardly any incidents since the National Guard moved in," a police spokesman said. "As soon as we got reinforcements things began quieting down."

Four hundred troops patrolled the streets.

All bars in Mahoning County were ordered closed for 72 hours, starting at 7 p.m. Monday. Gas stations also were ordered closed.

Police arrested more than 40 persons, mostly for curfew violations. Troops cordoned off six blocks of the city's South Side. Patrols were light in other sections.

Once the soldiers moved in and the curfew went into effect, city streets were virtually deserted.

The shooting came at a South Side intersection four hours after a memorial march had started there in tribute to the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The march was peaceful.

Police said they went to break up a crowd of 100 to 150 Negroes most of them youths, who were throwing rocks and breaking store windows.

A shot hit Lt. Robert Pavelko, head of the Police Department's juvenile division. Police fired back and another shot at the officers hit patrolman William Grady.

Pavelko was grazed in the face and later released from South Side Hospital. Grady was hit in the abdomen and reported in fair condition following surgey.

Also hit was Carl Madison, 24, a Negro, identified by police as one of those throwing rocks. He was wounded in the leg and was jailed after hospital treatment.

There were no other injuries.

A fire broke out at a grocery store after the shooting and a furniture store was fire bombed on the North Side. There were reports of other fire bombings in scattered areas of the city, but firemen said they were ineffective.

Gov. James A. Rhodes ordered troops in at the request of city and county officials. Besides the 400 in the streets, another 200 to 250 were available if needed.

White Teacher Slain In Cincinnati Riot

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A white college teacher was pulled from his car and stabbed to death Monday night during the height of rioting in several Negro sections of the city.

Gov. James A. Rhodes sent 1,400 National Guardsmen to help police restore order. City officials asked for the troops.

Rhodes, who was vacationing in Florida, flew back to Ohio early today because of the rioting here and in Youngstown. He arrived in Columbus about 4:30 a.m., his office said.

Police said the city began returning to normal early today when a curfew imposed at 7:00 p.m. Monday night was lifted.

Arson, looting and window-smashing occurred during the 2½ hours of rioting that police said started after a rumor spread that a white policeman shot a Negro woman. The disturbances were in Avondale and other predominantly Negro areas nearby.

The victim of the shooting incident was a Negro woman killed accidentally by her husband, police said.

About 20 persons were treated at Cincinnati General Hospital for injuries believed to have been riot-connected. About 150 arrests were made, most for loitering, disorderly conduct and violation of a curfew that started at 7 p.m.

During rioting in the Mount Auburn area, Noel Wright, 30, an art instructor at the University of Cincinnati, was yanked from his car, beaten and fatally stabbed. Police said five Negro youths attacked him. Wright's wife, Lois, 28, was beaten by three Negro girls and hospitalized, but she was not seriously injured.

Police and guardsmen patrolled streets strewn with debris overnight, with the city-wide curfew in effect until 6 a.m.

Five judges heard rioters' cases far into the night at municipal court. Some were sentenced to jail terms and fined up to $500 within a few hours of their arrests.

The outbreak was the first major disturbance since the rioting that hit the Negro areas twice last summer.

The night started off peacefully with memorial services being held for slain civil rights

Implementation Of Plan Termed City's Next Step

It's time for East Liverpool to begin thinking about implementation of its "master plan" — making a reality of some of the proposals for progress and development outlined in the last two years.

The City Planning Commission was given that advice Monday night during a meeting at City Hall by Carroll V. Hill, head of the professional planning concern that bears his name.

"The time has come to consider: 'What are we going to do after the plan is completed?' and 'How are we going to make use of the plan?'," Hill told the commission. "We want to assist the city in any way possible in implementing the plan."

His company, called Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus, has drafted a long series of interim reports analyzing East Liverpool as it is and recommending a long-range development plan to help it keep pace with modern mercantile, residential and industrial centers. The plan will be presented in final form in a few months.

He agreed with the commission that one of the primary initial steps will be hiring of a

Sweeney announced that Post 121 will sponsor a show at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Pittsburgh. Harry Hall, third vice commander, is in charge of the arrangements.

Paul J. Zinna and Charles L. Partin of Chester were enrolled as new members.

Cover Trash Trucks, Chief Warns Haulers

Police Chief A. J. Radeschi today warned private haulers that city ordinances require tarpaulins or other adequate covers must be used to prevent debris from scattering from loads of trash and garbage.

The chief pointed out the ordinance applies to householders transporting their own refuse as well as to private haulers who work on a regular basis. Because of the arrival of spring weather, there has been an increase in the number of trucks hauling refuse through the city to the landfill dump along the Y. & O. Rd., he pointed out.

From The Ashes Of War-Hope

U.S. servicemen returning from Vietnam are bringing back with them a multitude of memories and impressions. Many of their ideas will have been changed during the course of their experiences.

Among the more sobering bits of knowledge they will have acquired is the realization that comparatively few other Americans really comprehend how poor Asians can be.

Many of our soldiers and marines have had the opportunity to see poverty of the South Vietnamese close at hand.

One returning Air Force sergeant put it this way?

"America has some poor, granted, but generally Americans find their problems resolve around deciding what not to buy this week or how to spread their incomes by putting something off until later in order to buy that new car or TV set now.

"On the other hand, the Vietnamese worry about how to get ANY money now, just to buy food and other life necessities."

The sergeant told of seeing people going through garbage in search of edible food and he said, in some military areas, the garbage is collected by natives and dumped in front of housing areas for the inhabitants to cull over.

Describing the conditions as unbelievable, he told how he and his fellow airmen felt the urge to help the Vietnamese people by giving them some of "our own stuff."

This awareness of the hunger and privation existing in the world (it has been spoken of many times by our servicemen) plus the compassion resulting from it must surely have a beneficial effect in the years to come.

These young men, who will head the American families of the future, may be expected to do more to alleviate the conditions of poverty in this country and to be more sympathetic to causes designed to remove inequalities among the races.

They will do it in many ways — by ballots, by writing, by making laws, by civic leadership — mindful always of their experiences in Vietnam.

Yankee Ingenuity

Yankee ingenuity has triumphed again.

The Queen Elizabeth will be joining her sister ship, the Queen Mary, in an American enterprise after her last cruise November 15.

Three American millionaires purchased the largest passenger ship in the world for more than $7 million and plan to turn it into a floating hotel and convention center in Philadelphia.

It should be a spectacular attraction for Philadelphia and quite a money-making project for the new owners.

The Queen Mary, which went into retirement last July, will be serving in a similar capacity for the city of Long Beach, Calif. It is a floating museum.

It would have been a shame for the two famous liners to have been relegated to ignominious tasks or sold for scrap.

Now thanks to that Yankee ingenuity inspired by free enterprise thinking in this country, the ships will be preserved as monuments to maritime history—and serve a useful and profitable purpose at the same time.

Recommendation Stuns Doctors

The National Research Council's recommendation to ban pooled human blood plasma has stunned the nation's medical profession.

A committee of the prestigious council, in making the recommendation, claims the plasma causes hepatitis (liver inflammation).

The recommendation, if adopted, would prevent doctors in practically all of the nation's hospitals from using a very valuable medical tool.

More than that, the sudden curtailment of plasma use could cause a near crisis in the nation's blood supply.

It seems imperative that the recommendation be quickly adopted or rejected if its findings are determined to be in error or inconsequential.

For the fear instilled in the minds of many by the thought that human blood plasma is or could be harmful could result in countless problems and situations detrimental to the operation and administration of hospitals.

And if the recommendation is followed, the sooner the plasma is removed from hospital shelves, the better for all concerned.

The need is for prompt action on the part of the medical profession and its affiliated organizations.

Toward Efficiency

U. S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Cincinnati, has recommended that all federal programs for the control of water pollution be combined.

Observing that eight of the 11 cabinet departments currently are participating in one way or another in water pollution control, the Ohio lawmaker contends that both better organization and better administration are needed, as well as "well defined priorities," to do an effective job of curbing the growing problem.

Under present policies, five departments are authorized to make federal grants to local areas for the control of water pollution.

Rep. Taft points out that 38 separate federal bodies are involved in the single area of water pollution.

The logic of his proposal for unification of pollution control efforts is unescapable.

The need to control and then stop the pollution of this nation's water is so vital that anything less than the most efficient method of doing it should be unacceptable.

Approval of Rep. Taft's program would be one step toward the desired efficiency.

The Ghost Of Dienbienphu Routed

The tension over Khe Sanh has been largely dissipated with the arrival of relief forces from the south.

The allied outpost had been under siege for 76 days. The attention devoted to Khe Sanh and its defenders by North Vietnamese troops raised the question of its potential as another Dienbienphu.

The French garrison at Dienbienphu was overrun by enemy troops in 1954 and brought about French withdrawal from Vietnam.

Commanders expressed confidence that Khe Sanh could be defended against an overwhelming enemy force, but Americans were deeply concerned over the welfare of the 6,000 Marines at the base.

The bulk of the North Vietnamese troop concentration started to fall back as arrangements for talks between Washington and Hanoi moved forward.

Moscow has treated the retreat as a sign of good faith and confidence in the talks by Hanoi.

American spokesmen in Saigon feel the large offensive mounted by the U.S. to open up the area between Khe Sanh and Saigon had something to do with the North Vietnamese withdrawal.

American military men believe Hanoi did not want a large-scale confrontation between its troops and the advancing American troops.

Regardless of the technical aspects of the maneuver, the fact remains the Khe Sanh siege has been broken and the threat of an imminent, do-or-die effort by the North Vietnamese has been averted.

Timely Quotes

It is a shattering thing to realize that . . . this great nation can be so shaken by such a little nation (North Vietnam).

'It's Hanoi; They Say We Should Come Early And Bring A White Flag!'

An Exciting Visit

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Dear Visitor From Abroad,

This is your invitation to visit the U.S.A. in 1968, otherwise known as The Land of Bonnie and Clyde.

To make it easier for you, we will answer some of the questions that foreign tourists keep asking us.

Art Buchwald

IS IT DANGEROUS TO VISIT THE UNITED STATES?

Of course not. Americans are a gentle people who abhor violence. What little there is can be seen on television or in the movies — every night. We have cowboy films, cops and robbers pictures and children's cartoons.

IF THAT isn't your cup of tea you can tune in on one of our news shows. We not only show people being killed, but villages being burned, GIs being wounded, enemies being tortured or anything else that suits your fancy. Of course, these shows have no effect on Americans because they know it has nothing to do with them.

WHAT SHOULD I WEAR?

American fashions this year are all modeled after the Bonnie and Clyde look, and everyone wants to dress like a gangster. This trend is tongue in cheek, because everyone knows we don't admire gangsters, even though we all consider Bonnie and Clyde a gas.

WHAT CAN I BUY IN THE UNITED STATES THAT I CAN'T BUY IN MY OWN COUNTRY?

Guns, for one thing. We have no laws about buying guns. You don't even have to go to a store. You can order them by mail from newspapers and magazines.

YOU CAN BUY shotguns, rifles, hand guns, pistols, revolvers and practically any kind of weapon you want. Of course, we only use guns in the United States for hunting. That's why the American Congress in its infinite wisdom won't pass any gun control laws. They know anyone who would order a gun by mail or buy one in a store would never use it except to shoot game.

WHAT ABOUT VISITING AMERICAN CITIES?

Its perfectly safe to visit any American city in the country, providing you don't go out after dark or during certain parts of the day. The best thing is to ask your hotel clerk at the desk. He'll indicate what streets are safe and when you can visit them. Americans pride themselves on law and order and would never do anything to disturb the peace.

WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO COME?

Any time is a good time to visit the United States, with the possible exception of the long hot summer which starts in the middle of March and goes through October. At this time people are irritable and not as friendly toward tourists as they might be at Christmas time.

WHERE CAN I SEE THE PRESIDENT?

You can see the White House, but the President, for security reasons, doesn't make many public appearances any more — at least none that are announced in advance. No other American officials are free to travel, either. But as a tourist, this shouldn't bother you. After all, you have a foreign passport.

I HOPE this answers most of your questions. So forget your cares and see Americans at work and at play. Watch a truly civilized democracy in action and meet a people who love each other and live in harmony.

See for yourself why the United States is the leader of the Free World and an example to everyone of what you can do when you have understanding, wealth and power.

VISIT THE U.S.A.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Thursday I was driving in the southeastern part of Columbiana County in the vicinity of Rock Camp and the Grimm's Bridge area near Calcutta. What I saw was both an eyesore and a disgrace.

This area has been heavily strip-mined, and it is obvious that the miners responsible had not the slightest inclinations toward conservation. Areas where beautiful trees stood have been plagued by ugly spoil banks. No attempt whatsoever was made to level the land back.

What is more, thousands of gallons of sulphur water are pouring from these mines into the streams in this area. I would remind the people living in this vicinity that Ohio has a strip mine law which requires the coal strippers to level the land back. I think we have a right to know why this law is not being enforced in Columbiana County.

Much of the stripping was done in the area near Beaver Creek State Park. How can we have a nice park in this area if the strippers continue their activities? I think we deserve an answer. Something constructive must be done to alleviate the situation.

LLOYD W. BERRESFORD JR.
Kensington, Ohio

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Martin Luther King Jr. is dead. This should surprise no white American. For several years now Dr. King has been the symbol of a problem that white America refuses to acknowledge: American racism.

Since the beginning of the civil rights movement, Dr. King has been called a troublemaker and an agitator. This is true. Dr. King consistently caused trouble for and agitated the whites in this country who have wished to maintain the status quo (which means to maintain the second - class citizenship of the American Black man).

The misconcept of our white racist society is that Dr. King is the one who somehow created the race problem in this country. This is indicative of the deep sickness that pervades America. America's race problem did not begin with Dr. King, rather America's race problem began 350 years ago in 1619 when the first black man was brought to this country as a slave. Since that time American society has systematically maintained her racist attitudes. Dr. King did not start the race problem in this country, he simply gave leadership of the highest quality to his race in an attempt to secure for them those things which are guaranteed by our constitution.

Dr. King advocated non-violence in the attainment of these goals. Throughout his service to his race and to this country he was as adamant in his advocacy of non-violence, as the whites who opposed him were in their advocacy of violence as a response to him.

A man who throughout his life stood for non-violence has met a violent death. This to me says more about the race problem in this country than any words can. For the race problem in this country is not the Negro problem, but rather it the White problem.

I know many will disagree with what I have said. I speak only for myself, only as one individual white man who is deeply sorrowed by the loss of Dr. King. In his death, America has lost one of her greatest men.

Peace In U.S.

The time has come for President Lyndon B. Johnson to make a constructive effort to bring peace inside the United States, too.

Just as the Vietnam issue can be removed from partisan politics, so also can the problem of race riots and violence be tackled firmly and effectively without regard to its possible effect on a presidential campaign.

The basic question is how long the politicians, not only on the national scene but in the states and cities, are going to be intimidated by threats of reprisals by leaders who claim they can mobilize a huge vote of the negro population in the coming campaign.

Since President Johnson has announced that he is not a candidate for re-election, he now has a dramatic opportunity to carry out the principles of a true democracy. He can insist that freedom of speech does not mean the right to incite violence and that the right of petition does not justify the disruption of the business of government in the national capital.

MR. JOHNSON can also declare that there are ample facilities for speeches and demonstrations in public halls, stadiums and parks, but that the mobilization of a large number of persons for street marches, particularly in business districts, must be prevented.

They can be prohibited by court orders and injunctions enforced by local and federal authorities.

If the President were to proclaim that the federal government would co-operate with the tates and cities by making available troops, if necessary, to maintain order, and particularly to arrest and put in jail individuals who violate court injunctions, an entirely different atmosphere would emerge in America.

For a long time now there has been a lot of quibbling about the rights of "demonstrators." Officials have been timid about prosecuting individuals who are known to have organized "marches" ostensibly for the purpose of merely expressing views but really with the objective also of creating disturbances that would assure wide publicity.

There are plenty of laws on the statute books to punish individuals who provoke violence, directly or indirectly. Cities have the right by ordinances to prohibit marches which are likely to lead to disorder.

Various groups have been organized for the deliberate purpose of inciting riots. The question will be raised as to how such an intention can be proved.

The Supreme Court of the United States has declared that it is not free speech falsely to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater and create panic. The "demonstrators" and "marchers" do not seek to debate the merits of public questions in an orderly manner but to create conditions which will bring on violence and intimidate legislators.

Never in American history have so many "demonstrators" been allowed to go to such extremes in an effort actually to bludgeon the Congress of the United States into passing legislation favorable to their cause.

The Constitution projects the "right of the people peaceable to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." On the other hand, it also imposes on the federal government the duty to protect the states against domestic violence and to deal with insurrection.

PRESIDENT Johnson has an opportunity to use the same realistic approach to the problem of making peace inside the United States that he did in proclaiming to the world his willingness to go to the peace table with our adversaries in Vietnam.

There is no doubt that the underlying issues of the civil rights problem would get a better hearing and that more progress would be made toward removing discrimination if the riots and disorders, the looting and arson, the bottle-throwing and the sniping were eliminated.

Then the nation could consider earnestly and dispassionately the reforms necessary to relieve the sociological conditions which have stirred up the civil rights controversy itself.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — A campaign was launched for $1,500 with which to finance the work of the Salvation Army in Wellsville.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — A play, "John Loves Mary," was presented by Mrs. John A. Fraser and eight members of the Helen Gould Literary Club.

From The Ashes Of War-Hope

U.S. servicemen returning from Vietnam are bringing back with them a multitude of memories and impressions. Many of their ideas will have been changed during the course of their experiences.

Among the more sobering bits of knowledge they will have acquired is the realization that comparatively few other Americans really comprehend how poor Asians can be.

Many of our soldiers and marines have had the opportunity to see poverty of the South Vietnamese close at hand.

One returning Air Force sergeant put it this way?

"America has some poor, granted, but generally Americans find their problems resolve around deciding what not to buy this week or how to spread their incomes by putting something off until later in order to buy that new car or TV set now.

"On the other hand, the Vietnamese worry about how to get ANY money now, just to buy food and other life necessities."

The sergeant told of seeing people going through garbage in search of edible food and he said, in some military areas, the garbage is collected by natives and dumped in front of housing areas for the inhabitants to cull over.

Describing the conditions as unbelievable, he told how he and his fellow airmen felt the urge to help the Vietnamese people by giving them some of "our own stuff."

This awareness of the hunger and privation existing in the world (it has been spoken of many times by our servicemen) plus the compassion resulting from it must surely have a beneficial effect in the years to come.

These young men, who will head the American families of the future, may be expected to do more to alleviate the conditions of poverty in this country and to be more sympathetic to causes designed to remove inequalities among the races.

They will do it in many ways — by ballots, by writing, by making laws, by civic leadership — mindful always of their experiences in Vietnam.

Yankee Ingenuity

Yankee ingenuity has triumphed again.

The Queen Elizabeth will be joining her sister ship, the Queen Mary, in an American enterprise after her last cruise November 15.

Three American millionaires purchased the largest passenger ship in the world for more than $7 million and plan to turn it into a floating hotel and convention center in Philadelphia.

It should be a spectacular attraction for Philadelphia and quite a money-making project for the new owners.

The Queen Mary, which went into retirement last July, will be serving in a similar capacity for the city of Long Beach, Calif. It is a floating museum.

It would have been a shame for the two famous liners to have been relegated to ignominious tasks or sold for scrap.

Now thanks to that Yankee ingenuity inspired by free enterprise thinking in this country, the ships will be preserved as monuments to maritime history—and serve a useful and profitable purpose at the same time.

Recommendation Stuns Doctors

The National Research Council's recommendation to ban pooled human blood plasma has stunned the nation's medical profession.

A committee of the prestigious council, in making the recommendation, claims the plasma causes hepatitis (liver inflammation).

The recommendation, if adopted, would prevent doctors in practically all of the nation's hospitals from using a very valuable medical tool.

More than that, the sudden curtailment of plasma use could cause a near crisis in the nation's blood supply.

It seems imperative that the recommendation be quickly adopted or rejected if its findings are determined to be in error or inconsequential.

For the fear instilled in the minds of many by the thought that human blood plasma is or could be harmful could result in countless problems and situations detrimental to the operation and administration of hospitals.

And if the recommendation is followed, the sooner the plasma is removed from hospital shelves, the better for all concerned.

Toward Efficiency

U. S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr., R-Cincinnati, has recommended that all federal programs for the control of water pollution be combined.

Observing that eight of the 11 cabinet departments currently are participating in one way or another in water pollution control, the Ohio lawmaker contends that both better organization and better administration are needed, as well as "well defined priorities," to do an effective job of curbing the growing problem.

Under present policies, five departments are authorized to make federal grants to local areas for the control of water pollution.

Rep. Taft points out that 38 separate federal bodies are involved in the single area of water pollution.

The need to control and then stop the pollution of this nation's water is so vital that anything less than the most efficient method of doing it should be unacceptable.

Approval of Rep. Taft's program would be one step toward the desired efficiency.

The Ghost Of Dienbienphu Routed

The tension over Khe Sanh has been largely dissipated with the arrival of relief forces from the south.

The allied outpost had been under siege for 76 days. The attention devoted to Khe Sanh and its defenders by North Vietnamese troops raised the question of its potential as another Dienbienphu.

The French garrison at Dienbienphu was overrun by enemy troops in 1954 and brought about French withdrawal from Vietnam.

Commanders expressed confidence that Khe Sanh could be defended against an overwhelming enemy force, but Americans were deeply concerned over the welfare of the 6,000 Marines at the base.

The bulk of the North Vietnamese troop concentration started to fall back as arrangements for talks between Washington and Hanoi moved forward.

Moscow has treated the retreat as a sign of good faith and confidence in the talks by Hanoi.

American spokesmen in Saigon feel the large offensive mounted by the U.S. to open up the area between Khe Sanh and Saigon had something to do with the North Vietnamese withdrawal.

American military men believe Hanoi did not want a large-scale confrontation between its troops and the advancing American troops.

Regardless of the technical aspects of the maneuver, the fact remains the Khe Sanh siege has been broken and the threat of an imminent, do-or-die effort by the North Vietnamese has been averted.

An Exciting Visit

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Dear Visitor From Abroad,

This is your invitation to visit the U.S.A. in 1968, otherwise known as The Land of Bonnie and Clyde.

To make it easier for you, we will answer some of the questions that foreign tourists keep asking us.

Art Buchwald

IS IT DANGEROUS TO VISIT THE UNITED STATES?

Of course not. Americans are a gentle people who abhor violence. What little there is can be seen on television or in the movies — every night. We have cowboy films, cops and robbers pictures and children's cartoons.

IF THAT isn't your cup of tea you can tune in on one of our news shows. We not only show people being killed, but villages being burned, GIs being wounded, enemies being tortured or anything else that suits your fancy. Of course, these shows have no effect on Americans because they know it has nothing to do with them.

WHAT SHOULD I WEAR?

American fashions this year are all modeled after the Bonnie and Clyde look, and everyone wants to dress like a gangster. This trend is tongue in cheek, because everyone knows we don't admire gangsters, even though we all consider Bonnie and Clyde a gas.

WHAT CAN I BUY IN THE UNITED STATES THAT I CAN'T BUY IN MY OWN COUNTRY?

Guns, for one thing. We have no laws about buying guns. You don't even have to go to a store. You can order them by mail from newspapers and magazines.

YOU CAN BUY shotguns, rifles, hand guns, pistols, revolvers and practically any kind of weapon you want. Of course, we only use guns in the United States for hunting. That's why the American Congress in its infinite wisdom won't pass any gun control laws. They know anyone who would order a gun by mail or buy one in a store would never use it except to shoot game.

WHAT ABOUT VISITING AMERICAN CITIES?

Its perfectly safe to visit any American city in the country, providing you don't go out after dark or during certain parts of the day. The best thing is to ask your hotel clerk at the desk. He'll indicate what streets are safe and when you can visit them. Americans pride themselves on law and order and would never do anything to disturb the peace.

WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO COME?

Any time is a good time to visit the United States, with the possible exception of the long hot summer which starts in the middle of March and goes through October. At this time people are irritable and not as friendly toward tourists as they might be at Christmas time.

WHERE CAN I SEE THE PRESIDENT?

You can see the White House, but the President, for security reasons, doesn't make many public appearances any more — at least none that are announced in advance. No other American officials are free to travel, either. But as a tourist, this shouldn't bother you. After all, you have a foreign passport.

I HOPE this answers most of your questions. So forget your cares and see Americans at work and at play. Watch a truly civilized democracy in action and meet a people who love each other and live in harmony.

See for yourself why the United States is the leader of the Free World and an example to everyone of what you can do when you have understanding, wealth and power.

VISIT THE U.S.A.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Thursday I was driving in the southeastern part of Columbiana County in the vicinity of Rock Camp and the Grimm's Bridge area near Calcutta. What I saw was both an eyesore and a disgrace.

This area has been heavily strip-mined, and it is obvious that the miners responsible had not the slightest inclinations toward conservation. Areas where beautiful trees stood have been plagued by ugly spoil banks. No attempt whatsoever was made to level the land back.

What is more, thousands of gallons of sulphur water are pouring from these mines into the streams in this area. I would remind the people living in this vicinity that Ohio has a strip mine law which requires the coal strippers to level the land back. I think we have a right to know why this law is not being enforced in Columbiana County.

Much of the stripping was done in the area near Beaver Creek State Park. How can we have a nice park in this area if the strippers continue their activities? I think we deserve an answer. Something constructive must be done to alleviate the situation.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Martin Luther King Jr. is dead. This should surprise no white American. For several years now Dr. King has been the symbol of a problem that white America refuses to acknowledge: American racism.

Since the beginning of the civil rights movement, Dr. King has been called a troublemaker and an agitator. This is true. Dr. King consistently caused trouble for and agitated the whites in this country who have wished to maintain the status quo (which means to maintain the second - class citizenship of the American Black man).

The misconcept of our white racist society is that Dr. King is the one who somehow created the race problem in this country. This is indicative of the deep sickness that pervades America. America's race problem did not begin with Dr. King, rather America's race problem began 350 years ago in 1619 when the first black man was brought to this country as a slave. Since that time American society has systematically maintained her racist attitudes. Dr. King did not start the race problem in this country, he simply gave leadership of the highest quality to his race in an attempt to secure for them those things which are guaranteed by our constitution.

Dr. King advocated non-violence in the attainment of these goals. Throughout his service to his race and to this country he was as adamant in his advocacy of non-violence, as the whites who opposed him were in their advocacy of violence as a response to him.

A man who throughout his life stood for non-violence has met a violent death. This to me says more about the race problem in this country than any words can. For the race problem in this country is not the Negro problem, but rather it the White problem.

I know many will disagree with what I have said. I speak only for myself, only as one individual white man who is deeply sorrowed by the loss of Dr. King. In his death, America has lost one of her greatest men.

Peace In U.S.

The time has come for President Lyndon B. Johnson to make a constructive effort to bring peace inside the United States, too.

Just as the Vietnam issue can be removed from partisan politics, so also can the problem of race riots and violence be tackled firmly and effectively without regard to its possible effect on a presidential campaign.

The basic question is how long the politicians, not only on the national scene but in the states and cities, are going to be intimidated by threats of reprisals by leaders who claim they can mobilize a huge vote of the negro population in the coming campaign.

Since President Johnson has announced that he is not a candidate for re-election, he now has a dramatic opportunity to carry out the principles of a true democracy. He can insist that freedom of speech does not mean the right to incite violence and that the right of petition does not justify the disruption of the business of government in the national capital.

MR. JOHNSON can also declare that there are ample facilities for speeches and demonstrations in public halls, stadiums and parks, but that the mobilization of a large number of persons for street marches, particularly in business districts, must be prevented.

They can be prohibited by court orders and injunctions enforced by local and federal authorities.

If the President were to proclaim that the federal government would co-operate with the tates and cities by making available troops, if necessary, to maintain order, and particularly to arrest and put in jail individuals who violate court injunctions, an entirely different atmosphere would emerge in America.

For a long time now there has been a lot of quibbling about the rights of "demonstrators." Officials have been timid about prosecuting individuals who are known to have organized "marches" ostensibly for the purpose of merely expressing views but really with the objective also of creating disturbances that would assure wide publicity.

There are plenty of laws on the statute books to punish individuals who provoke violence, directly or indirectly. Cities have the right by ordinances to prohibit marches which are likely to lead to disorder.

Various groups have been organized for the deliberate purpose of inciting riots. The question will be raised as to how such an intention can be proved.

The Supreme Court of the United States has declared that it is not free speech falsely to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater and create panic. The "demonstrators" and "marchers" do not seek to debate the merits of public questions in an orderly manner but to create conditions which will bring on violence and intimidate legislators.

Never in American history have so many "demonstrators" been allowed to go to such extremes in an effort actually to bludgeon the Congress of the United States into passing legislation favorable to their cause.

The Constitution projects the "right of the people peaceable to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances." On the other hand, it also imposes on the federal government the duty to protect the states against domestic violence and to deal with insurrection.

PRESIDENT Johnson has an opportunity to use the same realistic approach to the problem of making peace inside the United States that he did in proclaiming to the world his willingness to go to the peace table with our adversaries in Vietnam.

There is no doubt that the underlying issues of the civil rights problem would get a better hearing and that more progress would be made toward removing discrimination if the riots and disorders, the looting and arson, the bottle-throwing and the sniping were eliminated.

Then the nation could consider earnestly and dispassionately the reforms necessary to relieve the sociological conditions which have stirred up the civil rights controversy itself.

guilty in 1965 to a charge of forgery in East Liverpool.

Jarvis was sentenced in January in Juvenile Court as a juvenile delinquent on charges of auto theft and resisting arrest and was due for release May 1. He was removed from the juvenile detention room to the general section of the jail on his 18th birthday in February.

At the time of the break, authorities said the men sawed a small opening in bars in the shower room, soaped their naked bodies and then squeezed through. They broke a small window to get out of the building.

City Man Hurt By Car On 6th

A 43-year old man was treated at City Hospital for injuries suffered Monday at 4:13 p.m. when he was struck by an auto as he walked across E. 6th St. at Broadway, police reported.

Garland E. Gilkison of 308 E. Church Ln. suffered abrasions and contusions of both knees and the forehead.

Officers said he was bumped by a 1964 model sedan driven by Alan J. Weinbren, 17, of 3125 Gilson Ave.

Weinbren told Patrolman James Woods he halted for a traffic signal while traveling east on E. 6th St. at Broadway. As the signal turned green, he pulled through the intersection, but did not see the pedestrian until he was bumped by the auto, the driver said. He said his car was moving 15 to 20 miles an hour.

Gilkinson told the officer the signal was red as he started across the street, walking north. Officers said tire skid marks at the scene measured 10 feet, 11 inches. Gilkinson was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

All city bus service was halted when the curfew was announced. The curfew also closed various businesses, includuing restaurants.

Patty Mae Smith, 36, was the victim in the shooting incident. Police said the shot was fired by her husband James, 29. 1,000 More Guards Sent To Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Calm returned to Pittsburgh today after four days of looting and arson, but city and state officials, taking no chances, ordered 1,000 more National Guardsmen into the city to help enforce the peace.

Command headquarters said the additional troopers, bringing to 4,100 the number of guardsmen in the city, would be used to relieve weary men who have been on 12-hour shifts and would remain at the ready should more violence break out.

Sniping Adds To New Worry In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Fires and lootings diminished today under the steadily tightening grip of more than 10,000 federalized troops, but an outbreak of sniping added a new worry as Baltimore entered the fourth day of civil disorders.

Five separate sniping incidents were confirmed by police Monday night at locations ringing the heart of the city. No one was hit. It was the first such outbreak since the start of looting and burnings Saturday.

The first flare-ups involving whites and Negroes also came Monday. Two incidents were quelled by troops without serious results.

With crowds ransacking stores and setting fires at a steady pace in predominantly Negro areas throughout the day, authorities brought in an additional 1,900 federal troops, raising to more than 10,000 the military force occupying the city.

14,000 Troops Alert For Riots In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arrests for curfew violations soared as 14,000 troops guarded against fresh disturbances in the riot-racked Negro slums of the nation's capital.

With schools and most businesses in the city closed today for the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., officials appeared concerned the services in Atlanta could touch off new trouble here.

Disorders that began after King's assassination in Memphis, Tenn., have left 6 dead, 1,087 injured and 5,882 arrested. More than 1,000 persons were arrested Monday, most for curfew violations.

"It is our determination that law and order will be maintained," said Cyrus R. Vance, President Johnson's riot troubleshooter, and added that violence and lawlessness "would be a desecration of the memory of Dr. King and the principles for which he stood."

guilty in 1965 to a charge of forgery in East Liverpool.

Jarvis was sentenced in January in Juvenile Court as a juvenile delinquent on charges of auto theft and resisting arrest and was due for release May 1. He was removed from the juvenile detention room to the general section of the jail on his 18th birthday in February.

At the time of the break, authorities said the men sawed a small opening in bars in the shower room, soaped their naked bodies and then squeezed through. They broke a small window to get out of the building.

Weinbren told Patrolman James Woods he halted for a traffic signal while traveling east on E. 6th St. at Broadway. As the signal turned green, he pulled through the intersection, but did not see the pedestrian until he was bumped by the auto, the driver said. He said his car was moving 15 to 20 miles an hour.

Gilkinson told the officer the signal was red as he started across the street, walking north. Officers said tire skid marks at the scene measured 10 feet, 11 inches. Gilkinson was taken to the hospital by ambulance.

All city bus service was halted when the curfew was announced. The curfew also closed various businesses, includuing restaurants.

Patty Mae Smith, 36, was the victim in the shooting incident. Police said the shot was fired by her husband James, 29. 1,000 More Guards Sent To Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Calm returned to Pittsburgh today after four days of looting and arson, but city and state officials, taking no chances, ordered 1,000 more National Guardsmen into the city to help enforce the peace.

Command headquarters said the additional troopers, bringing to 4,100 the number of guardsmen in the city, would be used to relieve weary men who have been on 12-hour shifts and would remain at the ready should more violence break out.

Sniping Adds To New Worry In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Fires and lootings diminished today under the steadily tightening grip of more than 10,000 federalized troops, but an outbreak of sniping added a new worry as Baltimore entered the fourth day of civil disorders.

Five separate sniping incidents were confirmed by police Monday night at locations ringing the heart of the city. No one was hit. It was the first such outbreak since the start of looting and burnings Saturday.

The first flare-ups involving whites and Negroes also came Monday. Two incidents were quelled by troops without serious results.

With crowds ransacking stores and setting fires at a steady pace in predominantly Negro areas throughout the day, authorities brought in an additional 1,900 federal troops, raising to more than 10,000 the military force occupying the city.

14,000 Troops Alert For Riots In Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arrests for curfew violations soared as 14,000 troops guarded against fresh disturbances in the riot-racked Negro slums of the nation's capital.

With schools and most businesses in the city closed today for the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., officials appeared concerned the services in Atlanta could touch off new trouble here.

Disorders that began after King's assassination in Memphis, Tenn., have left 6 dead, 1,087 injured and 5,882 arrested. More than 1,000 persons were arrested Monday, most for curfew violations.

"It is our determination that law and order will be maintained," said Cyrus R. Vance, President Johnson's riot troubleshooter, and added that violence and lawlessness "would be a desecration of the memory of Dr. King and the principles for which he stood."

Buy a used Elgin street sweeper from the Our Co. of Salineville for $3,200.

Employ the Weyant Painting Co. of Lisbon to paint the ceilings and walls and refinish all the woodwork in the first and second floor foyers of village hall.

COUNCILMEN said both floors will have to be remailed before applying a base for the carpeting. No provision was made for this work or for carpentry needed on the woodwork before Weyant begins work.

Councilman William Robinson, who headed the insurance study committee, said it met April 1 with the finance committee and came to the conclusion "that at the present time we cannot take on an insurance program because of the financial situation and raises coming up."

Councilmen Bill Mattix, Willis Coleman and Ray Beers voted to table insurance bids indefinitely. Robinson and Larry Evans opposed the tabling. Councilman Charles Webber was absent.

Beers said the police committee met with the finance committee and agreed on a $50-per-month raise for the chief of police and a $25 advance for the patrolmen. The new salaries will be $475 and $40 respectively.

The regular patrolmen will continue to receive $2.50 an hour for overtime, while special police officers called into service by Mayor Clyde B. Pike, Chief Leon T. Zahrndt or Mattix, president of council, will receive $2.25 an hour.

COUNCIL voted to authorize Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi to draw up a new salary ordinance for police and present it at the next meeting April 22.

After weeks of study, the street committee asked for elimination of parking on:

Both sides of Beaver St. (except for the west side between Chestnut and Lincoln Way) from N. Market St. to Maple St.

The north side of W. Washington St. from S. Lincoln Ave. west to the end of the street.

Both sides of Pritchard Ave. from Chestnut St. south to Lincoln Way.

Council unanimously adopted the committee' recommendations.

CARL TURK of Signal, owner of the A & P Supermarket at Lincoln Way and Jefferson St., asked Council for help in curbing vandalism at the store.

"In the last five weeks, I have replaced over $1,000 worth of glass," he said. "If this continues, it is going to hurt other local businessmen insurance-wise," he added.

Turk said he advertised a $50 reward for information leading to the conviction of persons who are shooting holes in the windows, and would be glad to double the reward if he could stop the damage.

Councilmen noted that window breaking has occurred elsewhere in the community and at rural homes. Mayor Pike referred the problem to the police committee.

Council gave the Jaycees permission to use Vine St. from Lincoln Way to Washington St. on an unspecified Saturday this spring for a car - wash project.

REED MCCLURE, a partner in Morris E. Nall & Associates, civil - municipal engineers of Cleveland, was a visitor and discussed planning briefly.

Coucil last month retained the firm, which recently established a local office, to handle the necessary engineering services for the improvement of Exchange St. McClure said the plans are on the drawing board and should be ready by council's next meeting.

Beers reported that he and Webber looked at the old waterworks building at the foot of Jefferson St. and believe someone would be interested in razing the building in exchange for material that is in it. Pike said he would investigate.

Joe Gouldsberry, local steeplejack, told Council he will remove three trees on the old Lisbon Salesbook property for $100. Pike is to contact the Pittsburgh owners to see if that is agreeable with them. The trees are old and hazardous, Gouldsberry said.

city planning coordinator to help obtain federal grants for local projects. City Council has appropriated funds for the coordinator's salary and expenses and is scheduled to act soon on legislation actually establishing the post and defining the duties.

The commission also conferred with Lee Renaud of Pittsburgh, newly - assigned as the Hill concern's representative to work with the commission. He replaces Daniel Ziegler II of Pittsburgh, who worked with the commission for two years or more. Ziegler now has been assigned to planning duties in a Pennsylvania firm.

Renaud formerly was associated with the Hancock County (Ohio) Regional Planning Commission, with headquarters at Findlay.

He told the commission construction nearly is complete on a model of a plan for proposed modernization of the central business district. He said it may be ready to be shown to the commission at its regular meeting in May.

The commission devoted most of its routine business session to another review of zoning regulations as they pertain to outdoor advertising and signs on business houses.

It adopted recommendations for two additional changes in the zoning regulations on signs. In one change, a business place would be permitted to erect a so-called "ground sign" within 50 feet of the next nearest property line. The regulation previously specified that such a sign must be at least 100 feet from the nearest adjoining property.

The commission also prescribed an overall side of 5-by-10 feet on each side for so-called "projecting signs" on the front of a business establishment. The previous regulation specified that the signs must not extend more than seven feet from the front of a structure, but did not put any limitations on overall dimensions.

The commission agreed it will meet again with persons and firms in the sign business to discuss the proposed regulation changes before referring them to Council for legislative action. The discussion will be held April 22, when the commission also is scheduled to hold a public hearing on a proposed change in zoning for a West End tract where a 130-unit "senior citizen" housing development is scheduled to be built.

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority is slated to erect the "high rise" unit in a tract between Dresden Ave. and the Freeway, north of W. 9th St. The present zoning classification would not permit erection of a multi-story apartment building.

A three-member delegation attended the session from the Pleasant Heights-Fisher Park area to protest reports that the housing authority will seek a zoning change to erect 130 units for housing for low-income families on a tract in Fisher Park overlooking California Hollow. They cited the fact the vacant site now is zoned "S-1," for recreation. They asserted that "the children will have no place to play" if the tract is used for housing, adding that "Myler Park was taken away from us" for use for housing.

George Steele, chairman, told the group that "the time to voice your objections is at the public hearing that will be held if and when there's an application for a zoning change." He said that discussion of the Fisher Park tract was not on the agenda for the session last night.

Also attending the session were Frank Mangano, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, James Granton and J. Clifford Conley, all members of the commission.

circuitous chase through downtown alleys and streets, he leaped into a pickup truck in Peach Alley, just south of W. 4th St.—about a half a block west of Market St. Officer Winters, who was close behind, nabbed the youth a moment after he got into the truck's cab.

The boy was handcuffed to a restraining belt when he broke away from Juvenile Officer Ed Hedrick outside the County Jail in Lisbon at 5:50 a. m. yesterday. The officers who recaptured him found he had managed to squeeze one of his hands through the cuffs. Then he had slipped the loose cuff over his other wrist. The restraining belt was missing.

The boy was due to be turned over to the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission at Columbus. The court alleged he had violated terms of probation granted on several occasions.

The boy broke away from the juvenile officer and dashed down an alley just as Hedrick opened a car door for him at the jail. Lisbon police were alerted within 30 seconds, but the boy had vanished.

Officers said they set up the local stakeout on the assumption the boy would turn up at his mother's home. He was described as heavy and large for his age.

Grass Blaze Extinguished Near Chester

A spectacular grass blaze on a hillside in the Fairview area was extinguished by Chester and Lawrenceville firemen Monday night.

The flames were battled for more than an hour. The fire broke out about 8:30.

Lee Haney, secretary of the Chester department, said several houses were endangered. He pointed out that high winds hampered firemen. Both departments had difficulty reaching the scene since the roads on the hillside are almost impassable.

The property is owned by Ray Shilling, who resides in Florida.

The fire apparently was caused by a person burning trash and the Hancock County conservation officer is investigating.

Haney said several residents from the Chester and East Liverpool areas offered their assistance in fighting the flames.

Seventeen firemen from the Chester department answered the call.

Lawrenceville sent 15 men, then returned at 12:45 a. m. when the grass ignited again. They remained on the scene for two more hours.

Chester firemen answered two calls Sunday. The first was at 12:05 p. m. when a grass fire at Pyramus and Orin Aves. was extinguished. The fire was caused by a thrown cigarette and several houses were endangered. Fourteen men answered the call and remained on the scene for an hour.

Project Eyed On Shadyside

East Liverpool officials talked to Columbiana County commissioners Monday at Lisbon about the proposed improvement of Shadyside Ave.

Participating in the talk at the commissioners' office were Mayor George E. Willshaw, engineer George Bloomgren, Council President Norman Bucher, Councilman Donal I. Burcham, County Engineer John Ursu and Commissioners Charles J. Gause, James W. Boyd and R. Max Gard.

The county at one time had agreed to put $5,000 into the improvement but the project fell through when the city advertised for bids and received none.

County officials agreed yesterday to share in the cost of borings to determine the rock structure and how expensive it will be to cut away the hillside to widen the road.

No decision was reached as to the county's financial participation in the project. Ursu said no costs are available for improving the 2,300-foot section of Shadyside inside the city limits.

In other business yesterday, the commissioners gave the Army Corps of Engineers an easement for two - tenths of an acre — a corner of the Roadside Park at the junction of Routes 45 and 7 in Wellsville.

The land is technically identified as part of the New Cumberland locks and dam project. Commissioners said the land given the army for $50 is a corner of the park next to the creek.

House Faces Major Steps On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House backers of a Senate-passed civil rights-open housing bill express wary confidence that the controversial measure will be sent to President Johnson before the Easter recess starts Thursday.

Two major steps must be taken first.

The initial move was a vote scheduled for today by the House Rules Committee, which last month refused to give immediate clearance for a House showdown on the bill.

The second and final congressional step—a vote on enactment—would be taken Wednesday if the committee acts in response to leadership hopes and requests.

Even opponents of the bill in its present form voice doubt they can further delay a decision. They lost one of their followers over the weekend when Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, one of the five Republican Rules Committee members, switched his position.

Anderson was on the winning side of the 8-7 committee vote last month that slowed down the bill's progress.

The issue before the Rules panel and the House itself is whether to send the measure to a Senate-House conference committee for compromise or send it directly to the President by accepting a major Senate open-housing provision.

This provision would bar discrimination in the sale or rental of about 80 per cent of the nation's housing. The bill also would seek protection for civil rights workers, penalize rioters and extend constitutional guarantees to American Indians.

Astronomers say the sun is a rather average star.

"ENGAGING" DIAMONDS

The first recorded use of a diamond in an engagement ring dates back to 1477 when Maxmillian I betrothed Mary of Burgundy. In arranging the marriage, as was the custom in the period, Maxmillian's advisers told him to have a ring set with a diamond, as well as a gold ring. The morning after the wedding, he was further instructed to present his bride with "some costly jewels".

Over the years, engagement ring custom and styling has undergone many changes. Today, few young women consider themselves really engaged until that diamond is shining back to them from the left hand. The selection of it should be just as pleasurable as the wearing, and certainly is of the deepest romantic significance.

Many couples prefer to shop for the all important ring together. Occasionally, the young man comes in first to select the diamonds and styles of mounting that come within his budget. Then, these are set aside for him until he brings the young lady into the store. She then has a choice of several diamonds, of different sizes and cutting styles, plus attractive mountings for each. Her fiance can help her make her selection based on personal taste, since he knows whatever she chooses will be truly a symbol of love and not a financial burden.

How much more memorable too, to share this happy experience in the proper surroundings to be found in a fine jewelry store such as ours. As a member of the American Gem Society, you know you can shop with confidence here. We will be happy to advise you.

The morning after the wedding, he was further instructed to present his bride with "some costly jewels".

Over the years, engagement ring custom and styling has undergone many changes. Today, few young women consider themselves really engaged until that diamond is shining back to them from the left hand. The selection of it should be just as pleasurable as the wearing, and certainly is of the deepest romantic significance.

Many couples prefer to shop for the all important ring together. Occasionally, the young man comes in first to select the diamonds and styles of mounting that come within his budget. Then, these are set aside for him until he brings the young lady into the store. She then has a choice of several diamonds, of different sizes and cutting styles, plus attractive mountings for each. Her fiance can help her make her selection based on personal taste, since he knows whatever she chooses will be truly a symbol of love and not a financial burden.

How much more memorable too, to share this happy experience in the proper surroundings to be found in a fine jewelry store such as ours. As a member of the American Gem Society, you know you can shop with confidence here. We will be happy to advise you.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Dry Sweater On Chair

DEAR FOLKS: Many, many people have written in and told me different ways to dry sweaters. If you have a dryer, naturally the best thing is to lay it on top and stretch it to size and let it dry THERE. Other people dry them on screens, etc.

Heloise

Well, you know those aluminum folding chairs that have WOVEN plastic in the bottom and back?

This is the greatest for drying sweaters! The reason is that the air comes up from the bottom...it's webbed you know.

If you have an old chair, I do suggest to put a bathtowel over it first. These chairs accumulate soil.

That's why our clothes sometimes get dirty when we're sitting on them in white shorts or slacks. These chairs need to be washed from time to time.

So the next time you're watering your garden, wash down those chairs, too. They dry quickly and the aluminum and plastic are not harmed by water.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When making belts for my dresses, I cover two buckles while I'm at it.

As this is the first part of the dress that shows wear, it gives me a ready-made fresh one to replace the old, soiled buckle.

EVELYN STREET.

DEAR HELOISE: This is the time of year I love to wake up in the morning and hear the birds singing.

To help them, I save all my short pieces of string and hang them on the clothesline for the birds to pick off and use in building their nests.

If they blow off on the ground, the birds will find them there, too.

Aren't birds wonderful?

TREVA MAYER.

-:-

I love 'em, too. Especially the cardinals.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Because my wife saves anything and everything, this week's shelf-cleaning brought on an exclamation, "Oh dear, I don't know what to do with these long-handled, colored spoons for long-gone milkshakes."

I was going to tell her to throw them into the trash can, then I happened to think that I'm the one who has to haul it to the trash dump. . .So I said: "Why not use them as row markers in our garden?"

She said, "That's a wonderful idea — come up with some more of them."

ROSS.

-:-

That's great, sir! Even the short spoons are good.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Many of the liquid spices that come in regular screw-cap jars or bottles are hard to measure when adding to food. Liquid smoke, for example.

I've found that by using an eye dropper I can measure the exact amount I want DROP by DROP.

HOUSEWIFE.

DEAR HELOISE: Save an empty three-ounce plastic shampoo bottle, wash clean and fill with clear water.

I carry one in my purse and it is wonderful for little, sticky hands if you have wee tots.

MOTHER OF THREE.

DEAR HELOISE: I needed tiebacks for my curtains so I used some colorful garters. When I need real fancy ones, I cover the garter with a pretty stitch using chochet thread.

Basis Of Public Positions

U.S., Hanoi Peace Steps Take Different Approach

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the basis of their public positions the United States and North Vietnam are working at cross purposes in their different approaches to Vietnam peace talks.

North Vietnam wants preliminary discussions on when President Johnson will end the rest of the bombing of its territory.

Before ending the rest of the bombing, however, Johnson wants to know whether North Vietnam will level off its heavy infiltration of men and supplies into South Vietnam.

Without some assurance on this point, administration officials say, Johnson would consider it militarily dangerous to stop the limited bombing of the North still permitted under his March 31 order.

Thus the prospects for successful peace talks are regarded in Washington as essentially discouraging at the moment despite the speed of diplomatic developments between Washington and Hanoi during the last 10 days.

But public positions can be changed in private bargaining, and some officials believe an accommodation on the bombing issue may be possible.

North Vietnam's position was made official in its reply Monday to a U.S. message of April 3 notifying Hanoi that Johnson was prepared to establish contact with representatives of North Vietnam.

Johnson plans to send Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman to handle the first phase of preliminary discussions on how to get full-scale peace talks started.

The date and place for these discussions have not been agreed upon. The United States had suggested Geneva; North Vietnam proposed Phnom Penh, Cambodia, where the United States does not have an embassy. Rangoon, Burma, is considered a possible compromise but neither of the other cities has been finally ruled out.

The U.S. reply to the message from Hanoi, which the White House announced Monday, is expected to be sent in the immediate future. Present indications are that the reply will deal primarily with a date and place for Harriman and the North Vietnamese representative to meet, rather than with the issues to be discussed.

The North Vietnamese message was not made public.

In Wake Of King's Death

Some Try To 'Cool It' As Violence Sears U.S.

While violence seared more than a dozen U.S. cities in the wake of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s assassination, small groups, Negro and white, have been trying to make the voice of calm heard over the noise of riots.

Two rival Negro street gangs in Chicago, the Blackstone Rangers and the Disciples, arranged a truce so their 3,000 members could work together to try to quiet riot-torn areas.

Huge amounts of material aid —food clothing, furniture and other supplies—were being poured into stricken areas from suburbs and other Chicago neighborhoods to help those made homeless by fire. Hundreds of offers of homes came from both white and black.

Young Negroes in Minneapolis banded together to patrol the streets after dark. Calling themselves "Citizen Protectors," the youths drive cars with black flags, urging calm and telling curiosity seekers to move on. The Minneapolis Urban Coalition raised money to buy gas for the cars and walkie-talkies for communication.

About 200 students from the predominantly Negro Clark College in Alabama launched a program called "Operation Respect." The students distributed 15,000 handbills saying, "If you truly believe in the principle of Dr. King, the greatest homage you can pay him is to refrain from the senseless looting, burning and wholesale vandalism."

In New York City, Mayor John V. Lindsay and members of his Urban Task Force toured slum areas, talking to residents, urging them to refrain from violence.

Some 5,000 suburban residents —most of them middle-class whites—rushed to sign up for an April 20 cleanup to cover 50 slum streets in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn.

The Negro Industrial and Economic Union, whose membership includes about 35 well-known athletes in various major cities, urged the sports stars to "move into the streets and ghettoes and try to stem the tide of racial unrest." The union was formed three years ago to encourage Negro business enterprise and provide jobs for Negroes.

Other sports stars, including Joe Louis, went on a special Detroit television show called "Cool It."

Due Postal Job

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson announced Monday that Ronald R. Ruppert has been nominated for postmaster of Franklin, Ohio.

Ohioans Pay Tribute To Rights Leader

By The Associated Press

Ohioans paused with the rest of the nation today as funeral services were held in Atlanta for the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., assassinated civil rights leader.

Public schools in Cincinnati and Toledo shut down in respect to the civil rights leader. Several colleges, including Ohio State University, the University of Cincinnati, Cleveland State and Central State University suspended classes until after the funeral.

Several Ohioans went to Atlanta for the funeral. They included Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland.

Many businesses in scores of communities closed Tuesday or suspended operations during the time of the funeral.

The State Department of Education recommended that public schools which stayed open provide television facilities for pupils to view the funeral services.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway said it would stop all its trains for one minute at 10:30 a.m. to honor Dr. King. Cleveland Transit System buses were also scheduled to stop for a minute.

State government offices were to remain open, but John McElroy, administrative aide to the governor, said workers could take the day off, but it would count against their vacation time.

Television sets would be made available to state employes, McElroy said.

The Congress of Racial Equality declared the day "Black Tuesday" and urged Negroes in Columbus and Cleveland to stay away from their jobs.

Basis Of Public Positions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the basis of their public positions the United States and North Vietnam are working at cross purposes in their different approaches to Vietnam peace talks.

North Vietnam wants preliminary discussions on when President Johnson will end the rest of the bombing of its territory.

Before ending the rest of the bombing, however, Johnson wants to know whether North Vietnam will level off its heavy infiltration of men and supplies into South Vietnam.

Without some assurance on this point, administration officials say, Johnson would consider it militarily dangerous to stop the limited bombing of the North still permitted under his March 31 order.

Thus the prospects for successful peace talks are regarded in Washington as essentially discouraging at the moment despite the speed of diplomatic developments between Washington and Hanoi during the last 10 days.

But public positions can be changed in private bargaining, and some officials believe an accommodation on the bombing issue may be possible.

North Vietnam's position was made official in its reply Monday to a U.S. message of April 3 notifying Hanoi that Johnson was prepared to establish contact with representatives of North Vietnam.

Johnson plans to send Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman to handle the first phase of preliminary discussions on how to get full-scale peace talks started.

The date and place for these discussions have not been agreed upon. The United States had suggested Geneva; North Vietnam proposed Phnom Penh, Cambodia, where the United States does not have an embassy. Rangoon, Burma, is considered a possible compromise but neither of the other cities has been finally ruled out.

The U.S. reply to the message from Hanoi, which the White House announced Monday, is expected to be sent in the immediate future. Present indications are that the reply will deal primarily with a date and place for Harriman and the North Vietnamese representative to meet, rather than with the issues to be discussed.

The North Vietnamese message was not made public.

In Wake Of King's Death

Some Try To 'Cool It' As Violence Sears U.S.

While violence seared more than a dozen U.S. cities in the wake of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s assassination, small groups, Negro and white, have been trying to make the voice of calm heard over the noise of riots.

Two rival Negro street gangs in Chicago, the Blackstone Rangers and the Disciples, arranged a truce so their 3,000 members could work together to try to quiet riot-torn areas.

Huge amounts of material aid —food clothing, furniture and other supplies—were being poured into stricken areas from suburbs and other Chicago neighborhoods to help those made homeless by fire. Hundreds of offers of homes came from both white and black.

Young Negroes in Minneapolis banded together to patrol the streets after dark. Calling themselves "Citizen Protectors," the youths drive cars with black flags, urging calm and telling curiosity seekers to move on. The Minneapolis Urban Coalition raised money to buy gas for the cars and walkie-talkies for communication.

About 200 students from the predominantly Negro Clark College in Alabama launched a program called "Operation Respect." The students distributed 15,000 handbills saying, "If you truly believe in the principle of Dr. King, the greatest homage you can pay him is to refrain from the senseless looting, burning and wholesale vandalism."

In New York City, Mayor John V. Lindsay and members of his Urban Task Force toured slum areas, talking to residents, urging them to refrain from violence.

Some 5,000 suburban residents —most of them middle-class whites—rushed to sign up for an April 20 cleanup to cover 50 slum streets in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn.

The Negro Industrial and Economic Union, whose membership includes about 35 well-known athletes in various major cities, urged the sports stars to "move into the streets and ghettoes and try to stem the tide of racial unrest." The union was formed three years ago to encourage Negro business enterprise and provide jobs for Negroes.

Other sports stars, including Joe Louis, went on a special Detroit television show called "Cool It."

Ohioans Pay Tribute To Rights Leader

By The Associated Press

Ohioans paused with the rest of the nation today as funeral services were held in Atlanta for the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., assassinated civil rights leader.

Public schools in Cincinnati and Toledo shut down in respect to the civil rights leader. Several colleges, including Ohio State University, the University of Cincinnati, Cleveland State and Central State University suspended classes until after the funeral.

Several Ohioans went to Atlanta for the funeral. They included Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland.

Many businesses in scores of communities closed Tuesday or suspended operations during the time of the funeral.

The State Department of Education recommended that public schools which stayed open provide television facilities for pupils to view the funeral services.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway said it would stop all its trains for one minute at 10:30 a.m. to honor Dr. King. Cleveland Transit System buses were also scheduled to stop for a minute.

State government offices were to remain open, but John McElroy, administrative aide to the governor, said workers could take the day off, but it would count against their vacation time.

Television sets would be made available to state employes, McElroy said.

The Congress of Racial Equality declared the day "Black Tuesday" and urged Negroes in Columbus and Cleveland to stay away from their jobs.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Dry Sweater On Chair

DEAR FOLKS: Many, many people have written in and told me different ways to dry sweaters. If you have a dryer, naturally the best thing is to lay it on top and stretch it to size and let it dry THERE. Other people dry them on screens, etc.

Heloise

Well, you know those aluminum folding chairs that have WOVEN plastic in the bottom and back?

This is the greatest for drying sweaters! The reason is that the air comes up from the bottom . . .it's webbed you know.

If you have an old chair, I do suggest to put a bathtowel over it first. These chairs accumulate soil.

That's why our clothes sometimes get dirty when we're sitting on them in white shorts or slacks. These chairs need to be washed from time to time.

So the next time you're watering your garden, wash down those chairs, too. They dry quickly and the aluminum and plastic are not harmed by water.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When making belts for my dresses, I cover two buckles while I'm at it.

As this is the first part of the dress that shows wear, it gives me a ready-made fresh one to replace the old, soiled buckle.

EVELYN STREET.

DEAR HELOISE: This is the time of year I love to wake up in the morning and hear the birds singing.

To help them, I save all my short pieces of string and hang them on the clothesline for the birds to pick off and use in building their nests.

If they blow off on the ground, the birds will find them there, too.

Aren't birds wonderful?

TREVA MAYER.

-:-

I love 'em, too. Especially the cardinals.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Because my wife saves anything and everything, this week's shelf-cleaning brought on an exclamation, "Oh dear, I don't know what to do with these long-handled, colored spoons for long-gone milkshakes."

I was going to tell her to throw them into the trash can, then I happened to think that I'm the one who has to haul it to the trash dump. . .So I said: "Why not use them as row markers in our garden?"

She said, "That's a wonderful idea — come up with some more of them."

ROSS.

-:-

That's great, sir! Even the short spoons are good.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Many of the liquid spices that come in regular screw-cap jars or bottles are hard to measure when adding to food. Liquid smoke, for example.

I've found that by using an eye dropper I can measure the exact amount I want DROP by DROP.

HOUSEWIFE.

DEAR HELOISE: Save an empty three-ounce plastic shampoo bottle, wash clean and fill with clear water.

I carry one in my purse and it is wonderful for little, sticky hands if you have wee tots.

MOTHER OF THREE.

DEAR HELOISE: I needed tiebacks for my curtains so I used some colorful garters. When I need real fancy ones, I cover the garter with a pretty stitch using chochet thread.

MALBE TILLMAN.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the basis of their public positions the United States and North Vietnam are working at cross purposes in their different approaches to Vietnam peace talks.

North Vietnam wants preliminary discussions on when President Johnson will end the rest of the bombing of its territory.

Before ending the rest of the bombing, however, Johnson wants to know whether North Vietnam will level off its heavy infiltration of men and supplies into South Vietnam.

Without some assurance on this point, administration officials say, Johnson would consider it militarily dangerous to stop the limited bombing of the North still permitted under his March 31 order.

Thus the prospects for successful peace talks are regarded in Washington as essentially discouraging at the moment despite the speed of diplomatic developments between Washington and Hanoi during the last 10 days.

But public positions can be changed in private bargaining, and some officials believe an accommodation on the bombing issue may be possible.

North Vietnam's position was made official in its reply Monday to a U.S. message of April 3 notifying Hanoi that Johnson was prepared to establish contact with representatives of North Vietnam.

Johnson plans to send Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman to handle the first phase of preliminary discussions on how to get full-scale peace talks started.

The date and place for these discussions have not been agreed upon. The United States had suggested Geneva; North Vietnam proposed Phnom Penh, Cambodia, where the United States does not have an embassy. Rangoon, Burma, is considered a possible compromise but neither of the other cities has been finally ruled out.

The U.S. reply to the message from Hanoi, which the White House announced Monday, is expected to be sent in the immediate future. Present indications are that the reply will deal primarily with a date and place for Harriman and the North Vietnamese representative to meet, rather than with the issues to be discussed.

The North Vietnamese message was not made public.

In Wake Of King's Death

Some Try To 'Cool It' As Violence Sears U.S.

While violence seared more than a dozen U.S. cities in the wake of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s assassination, small groups, Negro and white, have been trying to make the voice of calm heard over the noise of riots.

Two rival Negro street gangs in Chicago, the Blackstone Rangers and the Disciples, arranged a truce so their 3,000 members could work together to try to quiet riot-torn areas.

Huge amounts of material aid —food clothing, furniture and other supplies—were being poured into stricken areas from suburbs and other Chicago neighborhoods to help those made homeless by fire. Hundreds of offers of homes came from both white and black.

Young Negroes in Minneapolis banded together to patrol the streets after dark. Calling themselves "Citizen Protectors," the youths drive cars with black flags, urging calm and telling curiosity seekers to move on. The Minneapolis Urban Coalition raised money to buy gas for the cars and walkie-talkies for communication.

About 200 students from the predominantly Negro Clark College in Alabama launched a program called "Operation Respect." The students distributed 15,000 handbills saying, "If you truly believe in the principle of Dr. King, the greatest homage you can pay him is to refrain from the senseless looting, burning and wholesale vandalism."

In New York City, Mayor John V. Lindsay and members of his Urban Task Force toured slum areas, talking to residents, urging them to refrain from violence.

Some 5,000 suburban residents —most of them middle-class whites—rushed to sign up for an April 20 cleanup to cover 50 slum streets in Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn.

The Negro Industrial and Economic Union, whose membership includes about 35 well-known athletes in various major cities, urged the sports stars to "move into the streets and ghettoes and try to stem the tide of racial unrest." The union was formed three years ago to encourage Negro business enterprise and provide jobs for Negroes.

Other sports stars, including Joe Louis, went on a special Detroit television show called "Cool It."

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson announced Monday that Ronald R. Ruppert has been nominated for postmaster of Franklin, Ohio.

Ohioans Pay Tribute To Rights Leader

By The Associated Press

Ohioans paused with the rest of the nation today as funeral services were held in Atlanta for the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., assassinated civil rights leader.

Public schools in Cincinnati and Toledo shut down in respect to the civil rights leader. Several colleges, including Ohio State University, the University of Cincinnati, Cleveland State and Central State University suspended classes until after the funeral.

Several Ohioans went to Atlanta for the funeral. They included Mayor Carl B. Stokes of Cleveland.

Many businesses in scores of communities closed Tuesday or suspended operations during the time of the funeral.

The State Department of Education recommended that public schools which stayed open provide television facilities for pupils to view the funeral services.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway said it would stop all its trains for one minute at 10:30 a.m. to honor Dr. King. Cleveland Transit System buses were also scheduled to stop for a minute.

State government offices were to remain open, but John McElroy, administrative aide to the governor, said workers could take the day off, but it would count against their vacation time.

Television sets would be made available to state employes, McElroy said.

The Congress of Racial Equality declared the day "Black Tuesday" and urged Negroes in Columbus and Cleveland to stay away from their jobs.

At Board Meeting

Action Spurred On Curriculum For Wellsville

The progress of the curriculum studies and a proposal to raze the Croft house behind the high school were among the items discussed when the Wellsville Board of Education met Monday night.

Supt. Donald Lowe reported the elementary grade reading book recommendations should be ready for the board's action during the meeting May 13.

Recommendations for all other textbook changes also should be ready at that time, he added.

SOME courses have been revised, Lowe reported, and the curriculum changes should be available for teachers by July. The courses of study in the first three grades will be bound as a separate unit, he pointed out.

Lowe reported the inspection tour Saturday by the board included consideration of uses for the boarded-up Croft house owned by the board. The members making the tour decided the house was not worth repairing and should be razed.

A suggestion that the fire department burn the building brought protests from residents against the smoke that would result and other problems.

Lowe reported he has received a proposal from Paul H. Blair, superintendent of the East Liverpool School District, to permit Wellsville students enroll in East Liverpool vocational courses if room is available.

The openings would be in the fields of drafting and automotive mechanics, each of which are three-hour courses, Lowe added.

LOWE SAID the means of transportation if the courses are open has not yet been determined.

He also pointed out the board would have to pay for the courses, but would be reimbursed later by the state.

Students participating in the program would continue academic work at Wellsville, he explained.

Upon request by Lowe, the board agreed to have him set up a schedule to interview applicants for the football coaching position. Lowe suggested they hold interviews once a week and interview several each evening.

As the result of a December inspection tour and a subsequent decision to eliminate the plywood on the windows behind the cafeteria, Lowe reported those windows have been bricked up on the outside of the frame and workers will brick the inside on Saturdays when the cafeteria is closed.

Braces to support shelves will be placed in the wall, he said.

Lowe reported Cliff Athey has begun removing the trees from in front of the school. The board approved the action during the March 11 meeting after Lowe reported the roots were raising the sidewalks and creating safety hazards.

BOARD members agreed to meet for a few minutes before the inspection tour April 20 to select a recipient for the Dr. McMillan award. The award, Lowe explained, is presented each year to a resident of Wellsville who is considered a friend of the schools. The award will be presented during class day ceremonies.

Walter Cross, father of Terry Cross who was killed in an automobile accident in March, appeared before the board to request that the remaining two months necessary for his son to have become eligible for a high school diploma be waived and that the certificate be presented to the family.

The Board, on the recommendation of Lowe, voted to have Clerk Raymond Rolley send letters of thanks to all those who sponsored the basketball banquet held April 1 in the SOI Hall.

The board also voted to send Mrs. Helen Welch to the regional library workshop at Kent State University May 3-4.

Resignation requests from four teachers, effective June 6, were approved by the board. The teachers are:

Miss Judy Moore, speech; Miss Mary Lang, American Problems; Miss Abbie Harris, sophomore English and Mrs. Patricia Callahan, 7th - grade math.

Also, on the recommendation of Lowe, the contract of John Christon, physics and chemistry teacher, will be terminated as of June 6.

Raymond J. Rolley was appointed by the board as seventh-grade math teacher and half-time guidance counselor, effective Aug. 27, at a salary of $7,580 a year.

Earl Mundy, supervisor of custodians and maintenance, reported the book shelves have been installed at Garfield School.

He also informed board members that the retaining wall at the MacDonald building is being pushed out.

540 At Minstrel

LISBON — The American Legion's 23rd annual minstrel show drew 540 spectators Saturday night at the high school gym. Some 300 attended the first performance Friday night.

County Lists Stamp Totals

LISBON — Columbiana County residents enrolled in the federal food stamp program paid $25,629 for stamps in March and received free or bonus stamps worth $13,918.

The total of $39,747, compares with $43,857 ($27,656 and $16,201) in February, according to Wilbur Warren, food stamp supervisor.

He said the lower participation in March — 2,073 people compared with 2,243 in February — was due partly to the increase in social security benefits that were received the first of March.

Any time there is an increase or a reduction in income the recipient has to be recertified, Warren said. He said a number of people on social security did not recertify, apparently believing they would be ineligible.

"We believe that the majority would still be able to participate in the program," Warren said.

Elk Lodge Holds Installation Rite

About 75 attended an installation ceremony of East Liverpool Elks Lodge 258 Sunday night at the lodge home following a dinner for officers, wives and guests.

The new officers, headed by Russel Turner, exalted ruler, were installed by Ward N. Leech of Coshocton, district deputy, assisted by Mike Letzeller, state trustee, and the past exalted rulers of Lodge 258. Richard Williams, retiring exalted ruler, presided and gave the welcome.

Camp Fire Girl News

Group 54 of the Camp Fire Girls spent Saturday at Thompson Park, blazing trails and cooking.

The girls meet at the home of Mrs. James Matheny of Sunnyside Ave., Pleasant Heights, leader. Girls 11-13 interested in joining are to contact her.

Cleveland Bar Names Executive Secretary

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland attorney Peter P. Roper was appointed executive secretary of the Cleveland Bar Association Monday.

Association President James C. Davis said Roper will withdraw from private practice to devote full time to the association and to expanding its activities.

Marks Meeting

LISBON — A varied program marked Saturday night's meeting of the Guilford Grange, with Mrs. Bernice Arter, master, in charge.

It included: Roll call, answered by a safety hint; poem, Mrs. Effie Walton; foreign policy discussion, Harold Raley; reading, Mrs. Harry Hanna; group singing, with Mrs. Arter at the piano.

Mrs. Eldon Whinnery received a prize for her entry in the hat parade — a golden metal fireman's hat from Australia. The judges were Emmett Caldwell, Roy Scott and Jim Werner.

Mr. and Mrs. Raley served lunch.

The third and fourth degrees will be exemplified April 20, with Caldwell heading the degree team.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Miamisburg, Ohio, Women's Club was one of 10 such clubs picked Monday as finalists in a $200,000 community improvement program contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Brig. Gen. Roswell Winans, 80, who as a Marine Corps first sergeant won the Medal of Honor in a 1916 Dominican Republic campaign, died Saturday night. Winans retired in 1946.

Chinese is spoken by more than 400 million people.

Shaw Gives Annual Summary

County Farm Programs Reviewed

LISBON — The U. S. Department of Agriculture farm program brought over $400,000 into Columbiana County last year.

The various programs are administered by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service directed by farmer-elected committees.

Clifford F. Shaw of Lisbon is office manager of the ASCS committee office in the Gallo Building on the Square.

Government regulations delegate to the office manager chairmanship of the county USDA defense board charged with "carrying out assigned responsibilities in case of natural or man-made disasters." Serving on this board with Shaw are Herman Reuter of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District and Paul H. Gipp, county extension agent for agriculture.

SHAW'S annual ASCS summary reviews the various programs:

Feed grain — 498 farms participated for a payment of $181,525, including $156,128 for diversion and $25,397 for price support.

Wheat — 450 farms received certificate payment of $98,530 by planting within their allotted base.

Conservation reserve — 18 farms of the original 200 are under contract through 1969 and received $15,644 rental payments.

Cropland conversion — 30 farms remaining in this program received payments totaling $2,625. Contracts for this five-year program expire at the end of 1969.

Cropland adjustment — 73 farms received $35,175 for retiring land. A number of farms received an additional $2 per acre for diverted land where hunting with permission is encouraged.

Wool — 100 farms received $10,000 in inventive payments for wool produced.

Agricultural conservation — 500 farmers received $72,250 for cost share on conservation practices. Since this program requires the farmer to match the funds, this means the farmer and government working together spent over $144,000 in 1967 to buy conservation for the future of the county.

THIS MONEY bought permanent vegetative cover, grass meadows, 40 acres in trees, liming and fertilization of vegetative cover, springs and seeps for livestock water, woodland improvement, agricultural and wildlife ponds and tile drainage.

"We also paid the conservation service $2,800 to help defray their expenses in servicing permanent type practices," Shaw said.

J. Glenn Bates of Salem Township, county ASCS chairman, said about 75 per cent of county farmers participated in at least one of the several programs offered. L. Earl Lora of Salem Township and Carl Daiger of Middleton Township are the other members of the county committee.

Bates said he believes farmers like the committee system. "It gives them a local voice in setting yields, establishing allotments, setting up rates of cost - sharing on conservation work and other policy determinations that protect farmers at the producer level of operation."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Scientists have yet to find a giant sequoia — the world's largest living thing—dying of causes such as pests or old age, notes The World Almanac. Tannin, a chemical found in both the heartwood and bark, helps the sequoia resist blight and insects as well as rot. The nonresinous, fibrous bark, which grows two feet thick, can be pierced only by repeated major fires and even then, if a slim ribbon of sapwood remains, the wounds heal.

Pay For Poll Workers Increased At Chester

An increase in pay for poll workers at the June 4 general election was authorized by Chester Council at its meeting Monday night in City Hall.

On the recommendation of Councilman Roy Cashdollar, an increase of $2—from $8 to $10—was approved for this year, with an additional $2 for the 1970 election.

The legislators also approved the widening of an "apron" of blacktop at the post office to provide increased safety at the entrance from Carolina Ave.

Councilman Robert Kincaid, in conjunction with the action, said that additional curb space was needed to offer more visibility for motorists moving onto Carolina Ave.

City Clerk Donald Hood reported expenditures for the third quarter of the fiscal year totaled $14,558.78, with a balance of $7,315.

After a complaint from Councilman Charles Kology, Ward said that police will investigate "screeching" of tires by some motorists on Pennsylvania Ave.

Councilman Percy Willison reported that sewers are being cleaned and streets are being patched.

Wilbur Sayre, operator of a service station, questioned the terms of refunds on gasoline bought through area stations for city vehicles.

Under recent federal legislation, four cents on every gallon of fuel for city trucks, cars and other motor vehicles will be paid by the government in an effort to return some money to local governments.

Hood said council is willing to work with any local operator to arrange methods acceptable to the company, the operator and the city. He noted that two service stations already have responded to the offer.

Remittances totaled $1,693.57 and bills paid $3,612.04.

Council will meet again April 22 at 7:30 p. m.

ANN LANDERS

'Muscles' Due Surprise

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've read your column long enough to know how you feel about men hitting women — even in self defense. I also know you're a sensible person who realizes there are exceptions to every rule.

I hope you'll tell me I'm an exception, because I intend to keep hitting my wife and I'd like to do so with your approval.

Eighteen months ago I married a spoiled brat. She slept till noon and then went out and had lunch with her girl friends.

When I'd come home to dinner the bed wasn't made and the breakfast dishes were still in the sink. Also, there was no dinner. She decided it was dumb to cook because the cooks in the restaurants were better than she was. There was never any food in the house. A mouse would have starved to death.

Finally I got mad and went to her father and told him my problem. He said it was my fault for putting up with it and added, with a wink, "The way to get a spoiled brat in line is to slap her around a little."

I took his advice and it worked wonders. No more back talk, no more loafing around and goofing off. The house looks fine and the meals aren't great but she's trying to improve. I'd appreciate your comments. — MASTER AT LAST.

Dear Master: So you slap your wife around and now everything is just lovely at your house? What do you want from me — a gold medal?

Just because you married an immature girl who responds to a child's punishment doesn't mean it's right, or even acceptable.

I hope you recognize the fact that your wife has a loose connection in the attic. Furthermore, she may be your obedient slave at the moment but don't be surprised if one day her hostility manifests itself in some mighty strange ways.

Supply And Demand

Dear Ann: If I'm being a petty jerk, please say so and I'll mend my ways. Something tells me there's more involved here than just the dough. How about a fast answer?

I work in an office and there are a goodly number of nice chicks around, but one in particular caught my eye five months ago. Suzy and I have gone out together several times and I like her, but she has one minor fault. She keeps borrowing small amounts — like coffee money, or cigarette money, or $1 for an office collection, or cab fare when she forgets her coin purse. She never pays me back.

In the last three months (I kept track) Suzy has nicked me for $22. This won't break me, but it's the principle of the thing. Suzy is a pretty girl and has a good job. She has no excuse for not paying back what she owes.

Ann, and if you say forget it I will, but sometimes I think I'm being taken for a sucker and I don't like the feeling.

Should I say something and risk losing her friendship? — BENT BUT NOT BUSTED.

Dear Bent: People who borrow money and make no effort to repay it display a serious character deficiency — so don't write it off as "forgetfulness" or nothing to be concerned about.

The next time Suzy tries to float a small loan tell her she already owes you $22 and you'd appreciate it if she'd make an attempt to pay it back. If you lose her account — I mean her friendship — it won't be much of a tragedy.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

She said one man told Seales, "You're the one who shot my buddy."

Mrs. Seales started to run for the house to call police when she heard two shots. Her husband and daughter were found in the street.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

With the 1968 baseball season almost upon us, it's time for predictions and evaluations.

We'll consider the National League today and the American League tomorrow.

Let me say to begin with that I am a Pirate fan, and nothing would please me more than to see the Bucs take the flag. But looking at things realistically, a prediction of the Cardinals to repeat is in order.

The Redbirds have a solid lineup. The outfield of Lou Brock, Curt Flood and Roger Maris is superb offensively and good defensively. Orlando Cepeda and Mike Shannon at the corners of the infield are fine hitters and Julian Javier and Dal Maxvill up the middle are excellent defensively. The catching corps, led by Tim McCarver, is the best in the league. The pitching staff, questionable a year ago, has shaped up solidly behind Bob Gibson, Dick Hughes, Steve Carlton and Nelson Briles. There are many good youngsters waiting to break into the starting rotation by proving themselves in the bullpen.

IN SECOND PLACE we see the Chicago Cubs. Leo Durocher's team was the surprise of the league last year, and this year should do even better. Ken Holtzman will be available the whole season and Ferguson Jenkins is a proven winner. Rich Nye and Joe Niekro should improve. The bullpen is a little shaky. With the addition of Lou Johnson from the Dodgers, the Cubs have a solid starting lineup, Johnson, Adolpho Phillips and Billy Williams make up a strong outfield, and the infield of Ernie Banks, Glen Becket, Don Kessinger and Ron Santo has two strong hitters and good defense up the middle. Randy Hundley is an excellent catcher.

Our choice for third is the San Francisco Giants. The Giants have probably the best pitching staff in the league, with Juan Marichal, Mike McCormick, Gaylord Perry, Ray Sadecki and Bob Bolin as starters and Lindy McDaniels, Frank Linzy and Bill Henry in the bullpen. With Ron Hunt at second and Hal Lanier at short the infield is stronger defensively than in many years, and Willie McCovey and Jim Ray Hart provide power. The outfield of Ollie Brown, Willie Mays and Jesus Alou is less than the best and catching, with Hal Dietz and Bob Barton, could be a weak spot.

THE PIRATES, despite possibly the best regular lineup, are still plagued by pitching problems and we place them fourth. After Jim Bunning and Bob Veale there are no proven starting pitchers and there is no consistent stopper in the bullpen. Don Clendenon must have a better year, and if Gene Alley can't overcome his shoulder troubles there is a hole at shortstop. Maury Wills, Bill Mazeroski, Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Matty Alou rate with the best at their positions, but catching, with Jerry May, could be another weakness.

In fifth spot we see the Phillies. Even without Bunning the pitching is respectable, with Chris Short, Larry Jackson, Rick Wise and Woody Fryman. Don Money, the highly-touted rookie the Phils got from the Pirates in the Bunning trade, is expected to start at short, and Tony Taylor will be at third with Richie Allen shifting to the outfield. Allen, Gonzalez and Johnny Callison form a hard-hitting outfield trio, but defensively Philadelphia may be hurting. Bill White appears to have regained his form at first base, and the good-hitting Cookie Rojas is at second. Catching is a problem, with Mike Ryan having the inside track.

CINCINNATI, picked by some observers to challenge for the pennant, we see no better than sixth. Pitching problems plague the Reds. Jim Maloney is hurting, Gary Nolan has been sent down, Milt Pappas is inconsistent, and Mel Queen has to prove he can have another year like last year. The Reds made some bad trades over the winter, but still have a fairly solid lineup of Mack (The Knife) Jones, Vada Pinson and Pete Rose in the outfield and Lee May, Tommy Helms, Chico Cardenas and Tony Perez in the infield. A lot is expected of rookie John Bench behind the plate.

For seventh spot we pick the Dodgers, but the forces of Walt Alston could bounce back much higher from their dismal eighth-place showing of last season. The pitching, with Don Drydale, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen, Bill Singer and rookie Alan Foster, is solid. Zoilo Versalles anchors the infield, and Bob Bailey is hitting better than ever and Jim LeFebvre seems to have regained his form at second base. Wes Parker is a fixture at first. The outfield of Al Ferrera, Willie Davis and Ron Fairly is adequate, and Tom Haller is a proven catcher.

THE ASTROS have assembled a fine pitching staff, but the rest of the team is unsettled. Larry Dierker, Don Wilson, Mike Cueller and Denny Lemaster form a solid starting corps, but the bullpen is weak. Houston is counting on rookie Hector Torres at shortstop, and catcher Hal King, thirdbaseman Doug Rader and outfielders Ron Davis and Norm Miller were not starters last year. Rusty Staub has been shifted to first, Joe Morgan remains at second and Jim Wynn moves to left field, with Davis going to center.

The Braves, with real pitching woes, are picked to drop to ninth. Phil Niekro and Ken Johnson are the only dependable pitchers for the Braves. Deron Johnson, Clete Boyer, Felipe Alou, Hank Aaron and Joe Torre provide plenty of hitting, but the defensive is weak. Felix Millan and Sonny Jackson are the keystone combination, and a replacement for outfielder Rico Carty, stricken with TB, is being sought.

The Mets, even under the leadership of Gil Hodges, should once again finish last. Tom Seaver is the only pitcher worth mentioning. Retreads Phil Linz, Ed Charles and J. C. Martin may start, and Ed Kranepool is inconsistent. Bud Harrelson is a fine young shortstop, but an outfield of Cleon Jones, Tommy Agee and Ron Swoboda is barely respectable.

Howell Blasts Two-Run Triple

Bill Montgomery pitched a one-hitter yesterday as the Potters won their fourth straight game, becoming the third pitcher on the Potter staff to pitch a one-hitter or better. Previously Bernie Lovejoy had pitched a no-hitter and Jerry Howell a one-hitter. Howell, playing first base yesterday, turned hitter, sparking the Potters' 6-0 win at South Side with a two-run triple.

Montgomery came within two outs of a no-hitter. Ron Peden got a single with one out in the seventh to spoil the gem. Montgomery walked two and fanned eight, and one error was made behind him.

Howell's big hit came in the third inning off starter and loser Sam Laughlin. Rick Schuck singled and Bob Wolfe walked before Howell's hit and Dan Cunningham's single made it 3-0. Laughlin was relieved by Ed Ashcroft in the fourth, but the Potters kept adding to their lead. Tom Chambers and Kim Kemple singled and a run scored when Montgomery hit into a double play. In the fifth Howell got on on an error, stole second and scored on a hit by Cunningham. Kemple singled and eventually scored in the sixth.

The game was scheduled to be played at East Liverpool, but was shifted to South Side when a suitable field here in town could not be found. The loss was the first against one win for Don Chening's Rams.

Beaver 9 Wins Opener, Piatt Blanks Leopards

Mike Piatt pitched a five-hit shutout for the winners, while Paul Francis took the loss when the Beavers got two unearned runs in the fourth. Rex Campbell got a single and took second on an infield out. Francis struck out Lou Brown, but catcher Greg Braund let the ball get away and Brown was safe, with Campbell taking third. Brown stole second and when Braund threw wildly trying to pick Campbell off third both runners scored.

Braund went to the mound in the fifth in the sixth Lloyd Stockdale's club closed out the scoring when Brown walked, stole second and scored on a single by Jim Burcham.

The loss was the first for Joe Hamilton's Leopards after one win.

OHSAA Founded Over 50 Years Ago

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A group of enterprising men met in Dayton more than 60 years ago to discuss high school athletics.

They were members of the western Ohio superintendents and principals round table, an educational society.

They were worried.

High school athletics in Ohio could best be described as in a state of chaos. There were no uniform rules and no overseeing body to enforce existing regulations.

On Nov. 9, 1907, these same men met in Columbus and drafted a constitution and rules.

Out of these sessions was born the Ohio High School Athletic Association, a non-profit voluntary organization open to any secondary school accredited by the state Department of Education.

At the beginning, 84 schools joined the OHSAA and within one year there were 31 new members. Thirty years later, association membership mushroomed to 1,131 schools.

And today, despite a constant move toward consolidation, the OHSAA still claims 848 members including private, parochial and public institutions. Only a half dozen or so schools in Ohio are not affiliated.

The association still governs by the same rules it employed 60 years ago. The two most significent changes since its founding came in 1923, when statewide basketball tournaments were instituted as a means of financing the organization, and in 1925, when the OHSAA set up a full-time commissioner to head the association and act on interpretation of rules.

The all-encompassing scholastic organization appears to get stronger each year despite a contest barrage of criticism from coaches and other officials. The critics aim their main volleys at current Commissioner Paul E. Landis.

But Landis insists that the school officials who have enacted the "self - imposed regulations can vote them in and out as they see fit."

The purpose of the association is often repeated in high school brochures and most regional and state basketball programs.

"The object of the association is to promote, regulate, supervise and administer interscholastic athletic competition among its member schools to the end that the interscholastic program be an integral factor in the total educational program of the schools."

Landis, as commissioner, administers the entire program but he points out quickly that the big decisions came from the state Board of Control.

Effective Jan 1, 1968, and as the result of a referendum vote, Ohio was divided into six districts represented by six-member district boards. Members of the boards are selected by schools in the district.

And the state Board of Control is made up of six members, one from each district board and always three from the Class A schools.

Board members serve for three years and have final say on policy, including selection of a commissioner.

Under the OHSAA's constitution, Landis has the power to decide all questions of eligibility and interpretation of the rules. He also is directed to impose and enforce penalties.

But the Board of Control governs the far-reaching operations of the association and acts as the final authority in hearings involving eligibility, qualifications, game contracts and controversies between or among schools.

Despite sporadic attacks on the association, both verbal and legal, the OHSAA has flourished beyond even the dreams of its founders.

Only two years ago, the administrative staff moved into a new spacious, brick building on Columbus' North Side. The plush headquarters cost an estimated $300,000.

Clark's Body Brought Back To Native Land

Thousands of saddened Scots were expected to turn out for the funeral Wednesday.

THE FLY SWATTER

Baseball: A Dismal Dish

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—While baseball preens itself for the opening of a new season, the 93rd in major league history, a dullness pervades the spring ritual.

It should be a time of optimism and anticipation — why, even Charlie Finley and the Oakland Athletics have championship aspirations. But baseball is kidding itself.

The pervasive feeling of excitement you used to get with Opening Day is missing.

I mean, when the biggest story coming out of spring training was how the penalty for applying spit to a baseball was changed progressively from throwing out the pitcher to calling a balk to calling the pitch a ball, how are you going to warm up to the traditional umpire's shout of "play ball."

Baseball lacks personality. The best player in the game today is virtually unknown to the kids who collect bubble gum cards. His name is Roberto Clemente, and he plays in the outfield for the Pittsburgh Pirates. He has four batting championships to his credit and he has batted over .300 the last eight seasons consecutively.

But the biggest fuss is still made over Willie Mays, who is close to 37 years old and has deluded the Giants into thinking that his slump of last season was a momentary relapse. And Mickey Mantle, who is on his last legs at the age of 36 and really doesn't merit his spot in the regular line-up, except that he can still pull people into the park.

When an attractive new face does come along, like Mike Epstein last year, baseball doesn't know how to market it. The men who run the sport blow smoke rings smugly behind a facade labeled "national pastime" and shudder at anyone who makes echoes that will shake the Establishment.

There is no dynamic leadership on top. A commissioner who was a general has been on the job two years and hasn't produced a single memorable idea or innovation when the game is crying for attention.

The game itself demands revision to fit in with the pace of the times. When a progressive thought is suggested, like Eddie Stanky's idea of using designated pinch-hitters and keep a pitcher—or some other line-up regular—in the game, it's treated like a desecration of Abner Doubleday, who didn't invent baseball in the first place.

Pro football changed its rules to stimulate the forward pass and broaden its appeal. Pro basketball injected a time element, the 24-second clock, to speed up its action. Baseball's biggest move was making the fielders bring in their gloves between innings.

A clock is needed on pitchers to make them serve up the ball in a specified time, like 30 seconds. There's merit in a Texas League experiment a couple of years ago which gave a team 90 seconds to make the transition from batting to fielding after the third out.

The double - header, an instrument of the depression years, is archaic and can't keep big crowds rooted for seven hours on a sunny Sunday afternoon when most guys today can afford a boat or a set of golf clubs.

Baseball in its present form is not an exciting television spectacle. The most crushing symptom of the doldrums is that on Opening Day there now is even a paucity of grandmas who once came up mysteriously sick and freed the office boy for an afternoon at the ball park.

Dodgers Back Down On Tuesday Opener

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1968 major league baseball season now is scheduled to open Wednesday without a forfeit or strike. But three of the 10 games remained up in the air because of the racial unrest in Washington, Baltimore and Detroit.

The traditional Presidential opener at D.C. Stadium, postponed from Monday to mourn slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., still was doubtful Monday night as National Guard troops occupied the stadium. The soldiers had been called out to restore order in the troubled city.

Civil disorder in Baltimore the last three days brought out troops and the same held true in Detroit where Michigan Governor George Romney has instituted a state of emergency.

Minnesota is scheduled to open in Washington, Oakland at Baltimore and Boston at Detroit.

However, the cloud of doubt over two other openers was lifted Monday when Los Angeles agreed to set back tonight's scheduled game to Wednesday and a threatened strike by New York Stadium workers was canceled.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who open against the Dodgers, said they would forfeit the game rather than play today, the day Dr. King was to buried in Atlanta. The Dodgers at first said they would play, which would have meant the first major league forfeit since 1954, but decided Monday to postpone the game.

In New York, groundskeepers and maintenance personnel voted unanimously Monday to accept new contracts with Yankee and Shea stadiums, and returned to work immediately.

California opens at Yankee Stadium Wednesday while the New York Mets have their home opener at Shea Stadium April 17.

The rest of the Wednesday starters are Cleveland at Chicago in the American League and Atlanta at St. Louis, the Mets at San Francisco, Pittsburgh at Houston and the Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati in the National League.

Like the game at Washington, those at Cincinnati and Houston originally were scheduled for Monday, the others for today.

All the AL games and those at San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL are afternoon contests. The others are night games.

Stanky Picks Red Sox To Repeat Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Stanky, the Chicago White Sox's manager who is often painted as a man completely dedicated to baseball, Monday dismissed the idea of such an image.

"All the dedication in the world isn't going to see a contract extended once you fail to produce," said Stanky. "Sure, I like to win and I want to win. But my first obligation is to my wife and children.

"That comes first," said Stanky. "That's where I'm dedicated. Baseball comes second."

Stanky was talking as his White Sox went through a brief drill in preparation for their rescheduled opener against Cleveland on Wednesday.

Originally slated for Tuesday, the opener was moved back because of the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Stanky, in his third year at the White Sox helm, picked the Boston Red Sox to repeat for the American League pennant because "I always stick with the champion. You have to beat the champions."

E. Liverpool Golfers Beat Rochester

The East Liverpool golf team snapped a two-match losing streak and upped its record to 3-2 on the season with a 4-1 win over Rochester at Blackhawk in Chippewa Twp. yesterday.

The match was actually closer than the score, as three Potter golfers — John Stepien, Bob Kinsey and Bob Simms — won their matches on the ninth hole. Medalist was Denny Witherow of Rochester, the only Ram to win a point. He fired a 40 to a 48 by Jerry Williams, the Potters number one man. Stepien shot a 43 to 44 by Tom Pfeiffer, Kinsey shot a 43 to a 46 by Bob Ross, Bill McHenry fired a 44 to a 50 by Jerry Wolfe and Simms had a 43, the same as Doug Grimm, but won his match.

Action Spurred On Curriculum For Wellsville

The progress of the curriculum studies and a proposal to raze the Croft house behind the high school were among the items discussed when the Wellsville Board of Education met Monday night.

Supt. Donald Lowe reported the elementary grade reading book recommendations should be ready for the board's action during the meeting May 13.

Recommendations for all other textbook changes also should be ready at that time, he added.

SOME courses have been revised, Lowe reported, and the curriculum changes should be available for teachers by July. The courses of study in the first three grades will be bound as a separate unit, he pointed out.

Lowe reported the inspection tour Saturday by the board included consideration of uses for the boarded-up Croft house owned by the board. The members making the tour decided the house was not worth repairing and should be razed.

A suggestion that the fire department burn the building brought protests from residents against the smoke that would result and other problems.

Lowe reported he has received a proposal from Paul H. Blair, superintendent of the East Liverpool School District, to permit Wellsville students enroll in East Liverpool vocational courses if room is available.

The openings would be in the fields of drafting and automotive mechanics, each of which are three-hour courses, Lowe added.

LOWE SAID the means of transportation if the courses are open has not yet been determined.

He also pointed out the board would have to pay for the courses, but would be reimbursed later by the state.

Upon request by Lowe, the board agreed to have him set up a schedule to interview applicants for the football coaching position. Lowe suggested they hold interviews once a week and interview several each evening.

As the result of a December inspection tour and a subsequent decision to eliminate the plywood on the windows behind the cafeteria, Lowe reported those windows have been bricked up on the outside of the frame and workers will brick the inside on Saturdays when the cafeteria is closed.

Braces to support shelves will be placed in the wall, he said.

Lowe reported Cliff Athey has begun removing the trees from in front of the school. The board approved the action during the March 11 meeting after Lowe reported the roots were raising the sidewalks and creating safety hazards.

BOARD members agreed to meet for a few minutes before the inspection tour April 20 to select a recipient for the Dr. McMillan award. The award, Lowe explained, is presented each year to a resident of Wellsville who is considered a friend of the schools. The award will be presented during class day ceremonies.

Walter Cross, father of Terry Cross who was killed in an automobile accident in March, appeared before the board to request that the remaining two months necessary for his son to have become eligible for a high school diploma be waived and that the certificate be presented to the family.

The Board, on the recommendation of Lowe, voted to have Clerk Raymond Rolley send letters of thanks to all those who sponsored the basketball banquet held April 1 in the SOI Hall.

The board also voted to send Mrs. Helen Welch to the regional library workshop at Kent State University May 3-4.

Resignation requests from four teachers, effective June 6, were approved by the board. The teachers are:

Miss Judy Moore, speech; Miss Mary Lang, American Problems; Miss Abbie Harris, sophomore English and Mrs. Patricia Callahan, 7th - grade math.

Also, on the recommendation of Lowe, the contract of John Christon, physics and chemistry teacher, will be terminated as of June 6.

Raymond J. Rolley was appointed by the board as seventh-grade math teacher and half-time guidance counselor, effective Aug. 27, at a salary of $7,580 a year.

Earl Mundy, supervisor of custodians and maintenance, reported the book shelves have been installed at Garfield School.

He also informed board members that the retaining wall at the MacDonald building is being pushed out.

540 At Minstrel

Stamp Totals

LISBON — Columbiana County residents enrolled in the federal food stamp program paid $25,829 for stamps in March and received free or bonus stamps worth $13,918.

The total of $39,747, compares with $43,857 ($27,656 and $16,201) in February, according to Wilbur Warren, food stamp supervisor.

He said the lower participation in March — 2,073 people compared with 2,243 in February — was due partly to the increase in social security benefits that were received the first of March.

Any time there is an increase or a reduction in income the recipient has to be recertified, Warren said. He said a number of people on social security did not recertify, apparently believing they would be ineligible.

"We believe that the majority would still be able to participate in the program," Warren said.

The welfare office at 117 E. Washington St. here is open Monday through Friday for anyone who wishes to apply for food stamps or recertification.

CASPER CONQUERS. Billy Casper sinks a chip shot en route to a 66 in the final round and a 267 total in the Greater Greensboro Open yesterday. Casper beat George Archer by four strokes to win the tournament. (UPI Telephoto)

Greensboro To Casper

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Billy Casper's golf credentials are highly impressive, but he still has one more goal he yearns to attain—his first Masters championship.

When the 36-year-old Californian flew out of Greensboro Monday night he was $27,500 richer after winning the $137,500 Greater Greensboro Open with a record-equalling 267. A double round was played Monday because of two earlier postponements.

Today he began practice for that elusive Masters championship, confident that "I'm going into the Masters (Thursday) with the best chance I've ever had."

Despite a layoff of almost two months while he visited U.S. forces in the Far East, Casper returned to competition here with a remarkable display of consistent golf. His scores were 65-67-69-66, a 17-under par performance over the 7,034-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

Buccaneers, Chaparrals Pay Tonight

By The Associated Press

The New Orleans Buccaneers and the Dallas Chaparrals get the professional basketball playoff ball rolling again tonight.

It will be the first action in either the American Basketball Association or the National Basketball Association since last Saturday because of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King, the slain civil rights leader.

The ABA Western Division finals games between division champion New Orleans and Dallas will be in Dallas instead of New Orleans as originally scheduled. New Orleans leads the best-of-7 set 1-0.

Eastern champion Pittsburgh and Minnesota will resume their series Wednesday night in Minneapolis. The teams are tied 1-1.

Both NBA playoff series also resume Wednesday night, with Philadelphia at Boston in the Eastern Division finals and San Francisco at Los Angeles in the West. Boston leads the defending league champion 76ers 1-0 and Los Angeles holds the same margin over San Francisco.

High Altitude To Hurt Long Distance Runners

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have come up with yes and no answers to the question:

"Will Mexico City's high altitude bother athletes in the Olympic Games next October?"

New records may be set, the experts concluded, in events requiring spurts of energy, such as the 100-meter dash, the pole vault, the shot put, and competition depending more on skill than on muscular power.

But athletes in stamina contests, such as the long-distance runners, swimmers and competitors in similar events, may be in for trouble.

The problem is that there is about 25 per cent less oxygen at Mexico City's 7,800-foot altitude than there is at sea level.

A study of the problem by a group of international experts was reviewed by the Pan-American Health Organization.

The specialists conceded much will depend on individual performance but "there is only an outside chance of participants in endurance sports setting new world records."

In stamina contests, the athlete is fueled with aerobic energy—the kind dependent on oxygen. Dr. Rodolfo Margaria of the Institute of Human Physiology, Milan, Italy, said this is the kind needed for an event lasting more than 90 seconds.

Dr. Alberto Hurtado of Cayetano Heredia University, Lima, Peru, put it this way:

Race Riot Curtails ABC Bowling

Competition was called off during the course of the evening events after city officials ordered a curfew during racial rioting. The curfew meant the closing of all businesses houses and the like.

NHL Playoffs Resuming Tonight

By The Associated Press

Two straight Stanley Cup hockey setbacks have left the Boston Bruins in a belligerent mood. Harry Sinden hopes they stay that way for tonight's clash with mighty Montreal.

"We have to start skating and start hitting," Coach Sinden said Monday as the brawny Bruins prepared to tackle the Canadiens at Boston tonight.

The New York Rangers entertain the Chicago Black Hawks and the Los Angeles Kings visit the Minnesota North Stars in other National Hockey League playoff action tonight. The Philadelphia Flyers take on the St. Louis Blues Wednesday night at St. Louis.

Montreal downed the visiting Bruins 2-1 and 5-3 last week for a commanding lead in their best-of-7 quarter-final set. The Rangers are one up on the Hawks, having taken the series opener 3-1 last Thursday night.

The Kings swept their first two games against Minnesota on home ice. Philadelphia and St. Louis are tied at one victory apiece as their set moves to the Blues' ice.

Atmosphere Missing At Masters

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lovely ladies sipped drinks under red and green umbrellas by the shady oak tree. Kids darted up to Hideyo Sugimoto, seeking his prized Japanese autograph. The green banner with the famous flagstick patch flew over the big white clubhouse.

The curtain was going up on the 1968 Masters, mecca of golf.

Then they went back to their golf.

The Negro corps of caddies, waiters and waitresses planned to keep working.

"I am very sympathetic to Dr. King," one caddie said. "But I'll be here. I got a family to feed."

Gold Cup Winnings To Mrs. King

Fuller said that about $62,000 would be turned over to Mrs. King and the money could be used for scholarships in memory of the slain civil rights leader, or for whatever use she prefers.

"I met Dr. King at Boston University several years ago when he was to be honored with a doctorate," Fuller said Monday.

County Farm Programs Reviewed

The various programs are administered by the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service directed by farmer-elected committees.

Clifford F. Shaw of Lisbon is office manager of the ASCS committee office in the Gallo Building on the Square.

Government regulations delegate to the office manager chairmanship of the county USDA defense board charged with "carrying out assigned responsibilities in case of natural or man-made disasters." Serving on this board with Shaw are Herman Reuter of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District and Paul H. Gipp, county extension agent for agriculture.

SHAW'S annual ASCS summary reviews the various programs:

Feed grain — 488 farms participated for a payment of $181,525, including $156,128 for diversion and $25,397 for price support.

Wheat — 450 farms received certificate payment of $98,530 by planting within their allotted base.

Conservation reserve — 18 farms of the original 200 are under contract through 1969 and received $15,644 rental payments.

Cropland conversion — 30 farms remaining in this program received payments totaling $2,625. Contracts for this five-year program expire at the end of 1969.

Cropland adjustment — 73 farms received $35,175 for retiring land. A number of farms received an additional $2 per acre for diverted land where hunting with permission is encouraged.

Wool — 100 farms received $10,000 in inventive payments for wool produced.

Agricultural conservation — 500 farmers received $72,250 for cost share on conservation practices. Since this program requires the farmer to match the funds, this means the farmer and government working together spent over $144,000 in 1967 to buy conservation for the future of the county.

THIS MONEY bought permanent vegetative cover, grass meadows, 40 acres in trees, liming and fertilization of vegetative cover, springs and seeps for livestock water, woodland improvement, agricultural and wildlife ponds and tile drainage.

"We also paid the conservation service $2,800 to help defray their expenses in servicing permanent type practices," Shaw said.

J. Glenn Bates of Salem Township, county ASCS chairman, said about 75 per cent of county farmers participated in at least one of the several programs offered. L. Earl Lora of Salem Township and Carl Daiger of Middleton Township are the other members of the county committee.

Bates said he believes farmers like the committee system. "It gives them a local voice in setting yields, establishing allotments, setting up rates of cost - sharing on conservation work and other policy determinations that protect farmers at the producer level of operation."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Scientists have yet to find a giant sequoia — the world's largest living thing—dying of causes such as pests or old age, notes The World Almanac. Tannin, a chemical found in both the heartwood and bark, helps the sequoia resist blight and insects as well as rot. The nonresinous, fibrous bark, which grows two feet thick, can be pierced only by repeated major fires and even then, if a slim ribbon of sapwood remains, the wounds heal.

Pay For Poll Workers Increased At Chester

An increase in pay for poll workers at the June 4 general election was authorized by Chester Council at its meeting Monday night in City Hall.

On the recommendation of Councilman Roy Cashdollar, an increase of $2—from $8 to $10—was approved for this year, with an additional $2 for the 1970 election.

The legislators also approved the widening of an "apron" of blacktop at the post office to provide increased safety at the entrance from Carolina Ave.

Councilman Robert Kincaid, in conjunction with the action, said that additional curb space was needed to offer more visibility for motorists moving onto Carolina Ave.

City Clerk Donald Hood reported expenditures for the third quarter of the fiscal year totaled $14,558.78, with a balance of $7,315.

After a complaint from Councilman Charles Kology, Ward said that police will investigate "screeching" of tires by some motorists on Pennsylvania Ave.

Councilman Percy Willison reported that sewers are being cleaned and streets are being patched.

Under recent federal legislation, four cents on every gallon of fuel for city trucks, cars and other motor vehicles will be paid by the government in an effort to return some money to local governments.

Hood said council is willing to work with any local operator to arrange methods acceptable to the company, the operator and the city. He noted that two service stations already have responded to the offer.

Council will meet again April 22 at 7:30 p. m.

ANN LANDERS

'Muscles' Due Surprise

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I've read your column long enough to know how you feel about men hitting women — even in self defense. I also know you're a sensible person who realizes there are exceptions to every rule.

I hope you'll tell me I'm an exception, because I intend to keep hitting my wife and I'd like to do so with your approval.

Eighteen months ago I married a spoiled brat. She slept till noon and then went out and had lunch with her girl friends.

When I'd come home to dinner the bed wasn't made and the breakfast dishes were still in the sink. Also, there was no dinner. She decided it was dumb to cook because the cooks in the restaurants were better than she was. There was never any food in the house. A mouse would have starved to death.

Finally I got mad and went to her father and told him my problem. He said it was my fault for putting up with it and added, with a wink, "The way to get a spoiled brat in line is to slap her around a little."

I took his advice and it worked wonders. No more back talk, no more loafing around and goofing off. The house looks fine and the meals aren't great but she's trying to improve. I'd appreciate your comments. — MASTER AT LAST.

Dear Master: So you slap your wife around and now everything is just lovely at your house? What do you want from me — a gold medal?

Just because you married an immature girl who responds to a child's punishment doesn't mean it's right, or even acceptable.

I hope you recognize the fact that your wife has a loose connection in the attic. Furthermore, she may be your obedient slave at the moment but don't be surprised if one day her hostility manifests itself in some mighty strange ways.

Supply And Demand

Dear Ann: If I'm being a petty jerk, please say so and I'll mend my ways. Something tells me there's more involved here than just the dough. How about a fast answer?

I work in an office and there are a goodly number of nice chicks around, but one in particular caught my eye five months ago. Suzy and I have gone out together several times and I like her, but she has one minor fault. She keeps borrowing small amounts — like coffee money, or cigarette money, or $1 for an office collection, or cab fare when she forgets her coin purse. She never pays me back.

In the last three months (I kept track) Suzy has nicked me for $22. This won't break me, Ann, and if you say forget it I will, but sometimes I think I'm being taken for a sucker and I don't like the feeling.

Should I say something and risk losing her friendship? — BENT BUT NOT BUSTED.

Dear Bent: People who borrow money and make no effort to repay it display a serious character deficiency — so don't write it off as "forgetfulness" or nothing to be concerned about.

The next time Suzy tries to float a small loan tell her she already owes you $22 and you'd appreciate if it she'd make an attempt to pay it back. If you lose her account — I mean her friendship — it won't be much of a tragedy.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sports Events Gradually Resuming

By The Associated Press

There was some horse racing scheduled today, notably Keeneland in Kentucky, but many tracks called off their programs.

Tonight the National Hockey League playoffs resume, with Montreal at Boston, Chicago at New York and Los Angeles at Minnesota. The Montreal at Boston game was regularly scheduled for tonight. The other two were rescheduled.

Pro basketball playoff action also resumes tonight with an American Basketball Association game between New Orleans and Dallas at Dallas. The game originally was set for New Orleans Sunday night.

Wednesday the major league baseball season opens and horse racing returns to a full schedule. The National Basketball Association playoffs also resume Wednesday and action in the ABA and NHL continues.

Ben Franklin Elected To Swim Hall

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fifteen persons, including Benjamin Franklin, have been elected to the International Swimming Hall of Fame, it was announced Monday night.

Franklin, the famed printer, author, scientist and public official of the 18th century, was described as America' first internationally famous swimmer, swimming teacher and swimming writer.

Swimming was Franklin's most impressive talent as a young man and he once swam three miles down the Thames River in England.

Buck Dawson, spokesman for the organization, said others elected to the hall of fame by vote of 1,500 swimming coaches included:

Zoltan de Halmay of Hungary, only man to win medals in five Olympics; Dorothy Pointon-Hill, United States, two-time Olympic George Hogdson, Canada, winner of two gold medals in the 1912 Games; and Dr. Sammy Lee, United States, two-time high diving Olympic winner.

All will be enshrined in the Hall of Fame when its new building is dedicated here in December. Some 71 swimmers have now been elected.

Boston May Boycott Olympics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ralph Boston, the world record holder in the long jump, said Monday night he may boycott the Olympic Games because of the death of the civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

In a telephone interview with the Los Angeles Times, Boston said he originally decided not to boycott the Games in Mexico City this October because he didn't think "the Games should be used as a political crutch."

But Boston, at home at Nashville, Tenn., Monday night, said he wanted to represent the Negro but didn't want to represent "people like the man who killed Martin Luther King."

"Everybody gave him a hard time when he was alive," Boston said of Dr. King. "Now they're eulogizing him. Where were these phonies when the man was doing what he believed in?"

5 Killed, 22 Injured

Pilot Credited In Saving 121 With Crash Landing

LONDON (AP) — One engine caught fire and fell off and the left wing was in flames. But Capt. Charles Taylor landed the big jetliner and "we must owe our lives to him," said one of the 121 survivors.

Five of the 126 persons aboard were killed and 22 injured in the crash landing Monday at London Airport. Survivors and officials of British Overseas Airways Corp—BOAC—said the skill and courage of the pilot, a New Zealander, prevented a much more serious accident.

Two minutes after the Boeing 707 jetliner took off from London for Sydney, Australia, "I looked and saw the side was all in flames," said passenger Bill Deitsch, 27, of Teaneck, N.J.

"I remember thinking, 'We've got a choice. Either he lands the plane or the wing will fall off and we will have had it.'"

"The fire was growing all the time, but the pilot brought the aircraft round and we landed three minutes later," Deitsch said.

"It was a beautiful landing. The pilot was brilliant. He really was brilliant."

Everything seemed "beautifully under control," said another passenger, Miss Helena Morcom Taylor. "As we landed nice, soothing music was still coming through the loudspeakers.

"One or two gentlemen stood aside to let the women get off first down the escape chute. I thought that was very nice and, with the music playing, rather like the Titanic."

BOAC said an engine of the preparing to take off from same plane caught fire as it was Honolulu late last year. The plane was stopped before it left the ground and there were no casualties.

Sir Giles Guthrie, chairman of the government-owned airline, told newsmen: "This was the plane's first flight out—except for a test flight—following a major overhaul." He said BOAC's investigation would try to determine why the fire extinguishers were not working, why the fire warning system was not working and why the engine caught fore.

W. Va. State Offices, Liquor Stores Close For King Rites

CHARLESTON — All State Capitol offices and all liquor stores across the state were closed today in observance of the funeral of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, slain civil rights leader.

In a statement issued to state employes the Board of Public Works said:

"This is not a holiday for you. It is an opportunity for you to study and reflect upon our future and the part you will take in it.

"The loss of Dr. King leaves a void in moderate leadership, a fertile field for both black and white extremists to further divide our country. It is our sincere wish your thoughts will give a personal plan, a plan that will help you stand and be counted as an American citizen.

In related developments, Bluefield State College classes were called off today, three days prior to the regular start of Easter holidays. Classes at West Virginia State are also off, but will resume Wednesday.

State labor federation leader said the AFL-CIO is sending contributions to the striking sanitation workers in Memphis, Tenn., on whose behalf Dr. King had been organizing a march.

Police had cordoned off a four or five block area of the northeast section of downtown Wheeling late Monday, but said no serious incidents were expected.

There was no indication of the amount of damages resulting from the outbursts. No arrests were made and there were no injuries.

Sports Whirled

With the 1968 baseball season almost upon us, it's time for predictions and evaluations.

We'll consider the National League today and the American League tomorrow.

Let me say to begin with that I am a Pirate fan, and nothing would please me more than to see the Bucs take the flag. But looking at things realistically, a prediction of the Cardinals to repeat is in order.

The Redbirds have a solid lineup. The outfield of Lou Brock, Curt Flood and Roger Maris is superb offensively and good defensively. Orlando Cepeda and Mike Shannon at the corners of the infield are fine hitters and Julian Javier and Dal Maxvill up the middle are excellent defensively. The catching corps, led by Tim McCarver, is the best in the league. The pitching staff, questionable a year ago, has shaped up solidly behind Bob Gibson, Dick Hughes, Steve Carlton and Nelson Briles. There are many good youngsters waiting to break into the starting rotation by proving themselves in the bullpen.

IN SECOND PLACE we see the Chicago Cubs. Leo Durocher's team was the surprise of the league last year, and this year should do even better. Ken Holtzman will be available the whole season and Ferguson Jenkins is a proven winner. Rich Nye and Joe Niekro should improve. The bullpen is a little shaky. With the addition of Lou Johnson from the Dodgers, the Cubs have a solid starting lineup, Johnson, Adolpho Phillips and Billy Williams make up a strong outfield, and the infield of Ernie Banks, Glen Becket, Don Kessinger and Ron Santo has two strong hitters and good defense up the middle. Randy Hundley is an excellent catcher.

Our choice for third is the San Francisco Giants. The Giants have probably the best pitching staff in the league, with Juan Marichal, Mike McCormick, Gaylord Perry, Ray Sadecki and Bob Bolin as starters and Lindy McDaniels, Frank Linzy and Bill Henry in the bullpen. With Ron Hunt at second and Hal Lanier at short the infield is stronger defensively than in many years, and Willie McCovey and Jim Ray Hart provide power. The outfield of Ollie Brown, Willie Mays and Jesus Alou is less than the best and catching, with Hal Dietz and Bob Barton, could be a weak spot.

THE PIRATES, despite possibly the best regular lineup, are still plagued by pitching problems and we place them fourth. After Jim Bunning and Bob Veale there are no proven starting pitchers and there is no consistent stopper in the bullpen. Don Clendenon must have a better year, and if Gene Alley can't overcome his shoulder troubles there is a hole at shortstop. Maury Wills, Bill Mazeroski, Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Matty Alou rate with the best at their positions, but catching, with Jerry May, could be another weakness.

In fifth spot we see the Phillies. Even without Bunning the pitching is respectable, with Chris Short, Larry Jackson, Rick Wise and Woody Fryman. Don Money, the highly-touted rookie the Phils got from the Pirates in the Bunning trade, is expected to start at short, and Tony Taylor will be at third with Richie Allen shifting to the outfield. Allen, Gonzalez and Johnny Callison form a hard-hitting outfield trio, but defensively Philadelphia may be hurting. Bill White appears to have regained his form at first base, and the good-hitting Cookie Rojas is at second. Catching is a problem, with Mike Ryan having the inside track.

CINCINNATI, picked by some observers to challenge for the pennant, we see no better than sixth. Pitching problems plague the Reds. Jim Maloney is hurting, Gary Nolan has been sent down, Milt Pappas is inconsistent, and Mel Queen has to prove he can have another year like last year. The Reds made some bad trades over the winter, but still have a fairly solid lineup of Mack (The Knife) Jones, Vada Pinson and Pete Rose in the outfield and Lee May, Tommy Helms, Chico Cardenas and Tony Perez in the infield. A lot is expected of rookie John Bench behind the plate.

For seventh spot we pick the Dodgers, but the forces of Walt Alston could bounce back much higher from their dismal eighth-place showing of last season. The pitching, with Don Drydale, Don Sutton, Claude Osteen, Bill Singer and rookie Alan Foster, is solid. Zoilo Versalles anchors the infield, and Bob Bailey is hitting better than ever and Jim LeFebvre seems to have regained his form at second base. Wes Parker is a fixture at first. The outfield of Al Ferrera, Willie Davis and Ron Fairly is adequate, and Tom Haller is a proven catcher.

THE ASTROS have assembled a fine pitching staff, but the rest of the team is unsettled. Larry Dierker, Don Wilson, Mike Cueller and Denny Lemaster form a solid starting corps, but the bullpen is weak. Houston is counting on rookie Hector Torres at shortstop, and catcher Hal King, thirdbaseman Doug Rader and outfielders Ron Davis and Norm Miller were not starters last year. Rusty Staub has been shifted to first, Joe Morgan remains at second and Jim Wynn moves to left field, with Davis going to center.

The Braves, with real pitching woes, are picked to drop to ninth. Phil Niekro and Ken Johnson are the only dependable pitchers for the Braves. Deron Johnson, Clete Boyer, Felipe Alou, Hank Aaron and Joe Torre provide plenty of hitting, but the defensive is weak. Felix Millan and Sonny Jackson are the keystone combination, and a replacement for outfielder Rico Carty, stricken with TB, is being sought.

The Mets, even under the leadership of Gil Hodges, should once again finish last. Tom Seaver is the only pitcher worth mentioning. Retreads Phil Linz, Ed Charles and J. C. Martin may start, and Ed Kranepool is inconsistent. Bud Harrelson is a fine young shortstop, but an outfield of Cleon Jones, Tommy Agee and Ron Swoboda is barely respectable.

Howell Blasts Two-Run Triple

Bill Montgomery pitched a one-hitter yesterday as the Potters won their fourth straight game, becoming the third pitcher on the Potter staff to pitch a one-hitter or better. Previously Bernie Lovejoy had pitched a no-hitter and Jerry Howell a one-hitter. Howell, playing first base yesterday, turned hitter, sparking the Potters' 6-0 win at South Side with a two-run triple.

Montgomery came within two outs of a no-hitter. Ron Peden got a single with one out in the seventh to spoil the gem. Montgomery walked two and fanned eight, and one error was made behind him.

Howell's big hit came in the third inning off starter and loser Sam Laughlin. Rick Schuck singled and Bob Wolfe walked before Howell's hit and Dan Cunningham's single made it 3-0. Laughlin was relieved by Ed Ashcroft in the fourth, but the Potters kept adding to their lead. Tom Chambers and Kim Kemple singled and a run scored when Montgomery hit into a double play. In the fifth Howell got on on an error, stole second and scored on a hit by Cunningham. Kemple singled and eventually scored in the sixth.

The game was scheduled to be played at East Liverpool, but was shifted to South Side when a suitable field here in town could not be found. The loss was the first against one win for Don Chening's Rams.

Errors Hurt Midland

Beaver 9 Wins Opener, Piatt Blanks Leopards

Mike Piatt pitched a five-hit shutout for the winners, while Paul Francis took the loss when the Beavers got two unearned runs in the fourth. Rex Campbell got a single and took second on an infield out. Francis struck out Lou Brown, but catcher Greg Braund let the ball get away and Brown was safe, with Campbell taking third. Brown stole second and when Braund threw wildly trying to pick Campbell off third both runners scored.

Braund went to the mound in the fifth in the sixth Lloyd Stockdale's club closed out the scoring when Brown walked, stole second and scored on a single by Jim Burcham.

The loss was the first for Joe Hamilton's Leopards after one win.

OHSAA Founded Over 50 Years Ago

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A group of enterprising men met in Dayton more than 60 years ago to discuss high school athletics.

They were members of the western Ohio superintendents and principals round table, an educational society.

They were worried.

High school athletics in Ohio could best be described as in a state of chaos. There were no uniform rules and no overseeing body to enforce existing regulations.

On Nov. 9, 1907, these same men met in Columbus and drafted a constitution and rules.

Out of these sessions was born the Ohio High School Athletic Association, a non-profit voluntary organization open to any secondary school accredited by the state Department of Education.

At the beginning, 84 schools joined the OHSAA and within one year there were 31 new members. Thirty years later, association membership mushroomed to 1,131 schools.

And today, despite a constant move toward consolidation, the OHSAA still claims 848 members including private, parochial and public institutions. Only a half dozen or so schools in Ohio are not affiliated.

The association still governs by the same rules it employed 60 years ago. The two most significent changes since its founding came in 1923, when statewide basketball tournaments were instituted as a means of financing the organization, and in 1925, when the OHSAA set up a full-time commissioner to head the association and act on interpretation of rules.

The all-encompassing scholastic organization appears to get stronger each year despite a contest barrage of criticism from coaches and other officials. The critics aim their main volleys at current Commissioner Paul E. Landis.

But Landis insists that the school officials who have enacted the "self - imposed regulations can vote them in and out as they see fit."

The purpose of the association is often repeated in high school brochures and most regional and state basketball programs.

"The object of the association is to promote, regulate, supervise and administer interscholastic athletic competition among its member schools to the end that the interscholastic program be an integral factor in the total educational program of the schools."

Landis, as commissioner, administers the entire program but he points out quickly that the big decisions came from the state Board of Control.

Effective Jan 1, 1968, and as the result of a referendum vote, Ohio was divided into six districts represented by six-member district boards. Members of the boards are selected by schools in the district.

And the state Board of Control is made up of six members, one from each district board and always three from the Class A schools.

Board members serve for three years and have final say on policy, including selection of a commissioner.

Under the OHSAA's constitution, Landis has the power to decide all questions of eligibility and interpretation of the rules. He also is directed to impose and enforce penalties.

But the Board of Control governs the far-reaching operations of the association and acts as the final authority in hearings involving eligibility, qualifications, game contracts and controversies between or among schools.

Despite sporadic attacks on the association, both verbal and legal, the OHSAA has flourished beyond even the dreams of its founders.

Only two years ago, the administrative staff moved into a new spacious, brick building on Columbus' North Side. The plush headquarters cost an estimated $300,000.

Clark's Body Brought Back To Native Land

Thousands of saddened Scots were expected to turn out for the funeral Wednesday.

THE FLY SWATTER

Baseball: A Dismal Dish

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—While baseball preens itself for the opening of a new season, the 93rd in major league history, a dullness pervades the spring ritual.

It should be a time of optimism and anticipation — why, even Charlie Finley and the Oakland Athletics have championship aspirations. But baseball is kidding itself.

The pervasive feeling of excitement you used to get with Opening Day is missing.

I mean, when the biggest story coming out of spring training was how the penalty for applying spit to a baseball was changed progressively from throwing out the pitcher to calling a balk to calling the pitch a ball, how are you going to warm up to the traditional umpire's shout of "play ball."

Baseball lacks personality. The best player in the game today is virtually unknown to the kids who collect bubble gum cards. His name is Roberto Clemente, and he plays in the outfield for the Pittsburgh Pirates. He has four batting championships to his credit and he has batted over .300 the last eight seasons consecutively.

But the biggest fuss is still made over Willie Mays, who is close to 37 years old and has deluded the Giants into thinking that his slump of last season was a momentary relapse. And Mickey Mantle, who is on his last legs at the age of 36 and really doesn't merit his spot in the regular line-up, except that he can still pull people into the park.

When an attractive new face does come along, like Mike Epstein last year, baseball doesn't know how to market it. The men who run the sport blow smoke rings smugly behind a facade labeled "national pastime" and shudder at anyone who makes echoes that will shake the Establishment.

There is no dynamic leadership on top. A commissioner who was a general has been on the job two years and hasn't produced a single memorable idea or innovation when the game is crying for attention.

The game itself demands revision to fit in with the pace of the times. When a progressive thought is suggested, like Eddie Stanky's idea of using designated pinch-hitters and keep a pitcher—or some other line-up regular—in the game, it's treated like a desecration of Abner Doubleday, who didn't invent baseball in the first place.

Pro football changed its rules to stimulate the forward pass and broaden its appeal. Pro basketball injected a time element, the 24-second clock, to speed up its action. Baseball's biggest move was making the fielders bring in their gloves between innings.

A clock is needed on pitchers to make them serve up the ball in a specified time, like 30 seconds. There's merit in a Texas League experiment a couple of years ago which gave a team 90 seconds to make the transition from batting to fielding after the third out.

The double - header, an instrument of the depression years, is archaic and can't keep big crowds rooted for seven hours on a sunny Sunday afternoon when most guys today can afford a boat or a set of golf clubs.

Baseball in its present form is not an exciting television spectacle. The most crushing symptom of the doldrums is that on Opening Day there now is even a paucity of grandmas who once came up mysteriously sick and freed the office boy for an afternoon at the ball park.

Dodgers Back Down On Tuesday Opener

Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1968 major league baseball season now is scheduled to open Wednesday without a forfeit or strike. But three of the 10 games remained up in the air because of the racial unrest in Washington, Baltimore and Detroit.

The traditional Presidential opener at D.C. Stadium, postponed from Monday to mourn slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., still was doubtful Monday night as National Guard troops occupied the stadium. The soldiers had been called out to restore order in the troubled city.

Civil disorder in Baltimore the last three days brought out troops and the same held true in Detroit where Michigan Governor George Romney has instituted a state of emergency.

However, the cloud of doubt over two other openers was lifted Monday when Los Angeles agreed to set back tonight's scheduled game to Wednesday and a threatened strike by New York Stadium workers was canceled.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who open against the Dodgers, said they would forfeit the game rather than play today, the day Dr. King was to buried in Atlanta. The Dodgers at first said they would play, which would have meant the first major league forfeit since 1954, but decided Monday to postpone the game.

In New York, groundskeepers and maintenance personnel voted unanimously Monday to accept new contracts with Yankee and Shea stadiums, and returned to work immediately.

California opens at Yankee Stadium Wednesday while the New York Mets have their home opener at Shea Stadium April 17.

The rest of the Wednesday starters are Cleveland at Chicago in the American League and Atlanta at St. Louis, the Mets at San Francisco, Pittsburgh at Houston and the Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati in the National League.

Like the game at Washington, those at Cincinnati and Houston originally were scheduled for Monday, the others for today.

All the AL games and those at San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL are afternoon contests. The others are night games.

Stanky Picks Red Sox To Repeat Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Stanky, the Chicago White Sox's manager who is often painted as a man completely dedicated to baseball, Monday dismissed the idea of such an image.

"All the dedication in the world isn't going to see a contract extended once you fail to produce," said Stanky. "Sure, I like to win and I want to win. But my first obligation is to my wife and children.

"That comes first," said Stanky. "That's where I'm dedicated. Baseball comes second."

Stanky was talking as his White Sox went through a brief drill in preparation for their rescheduled opener against Cleveland on Wednesday.

Originally slated for Tuesday, the opener was moved back because of the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Stanky, in his third year at the White Sox helm, picked the Boston Red Sox to repeat for the American League pennant because "I always stick with the champion. You have to beat the champions."

The match was actually closer than the score, as three Potter golfters — John Stepien, Bob Kinsey and Bob Simms — won their matches on the ninth hole. Stepien shot a 43 to 44 by Tom Pfeiffer, Kinsey shot a 43 to a 46 by Bob Ross, Bill McHenry fired a 44 to a 50 by Jerry Wolfe and Simms had a 43, the same as Doug Grimm, but won his match.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of William Truman Bailey who passed away 5 years ago today, April 9, 1963. We miss thee from our home, dear father, We miss thee from thy place, A shadow o'er our life is cast. We miss the sunshine of thy face, We miss thy fond and earnest care. Our home is dark without thee—We miss thee everywhere.

In loving memory of Ed Green:

The spring that we loved
Has come back again,
With blue cloudless skies
And soft falling rain.

We walked in the sun
For lovely hours on end.
The spring will be lonely
No use to pretend.

I will go to those chosen spots
That only we knew;
For somehow I know
That you'll be there too.

I miss you.

CASPER CONQUERS. Billy Casper sinks a chip shot en route to a 66 in the final round and a 267 total in the Greater Greensboro Open yesterday. Casper beat George Archer by four strokes to win the tournament. (UPI Telephoto)

Greensboro To Casper

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Billy Casper's golf credentials are highly impressive, but he still has one more goal he yearns to attain—his first Masters championship.

When the 36-year-old Californian flew out of Greensboro Monday night he was $27,500 richer after winning the $137,500 Greater Greensboro Open with a record-equalling 267. A double round was played Monday because of two earlier postponements.

Today he began practice for that elusive Masters championship, confident that "I'm going into the Masters (Thursday) with the best chance I've ever had."

Despite a layoff of almost two months while he visited U.S. forces in the Far East, Casper returned to competition here with a remarkable display of consistent golf. His scores were 65-67-69-66, a 17-under par performance over the 7,034-yard Sedgefield Country Club course.

Atmosphere Missing At Masters

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Lovely ladies sipped drinks under red and green umbrellas by the shady oak tree. Kids darted up to Hideyo Sugimoto, seeking his prized Japanese autograph. The green banner with the famous flagstick patch flew over the big white clubhouse.

The curtain was going up on the 1968 Masters, mecca of golf.

But something was missing. Somehow, that first walk over the sprawling Augusta National Course didn't touch off that tingling feeling that this is the Masters.

The 32nd Masters Golf Tournament is scheduled to begin Thursday with a field of only 76, smallest in years.

Players on hand for Monday's somber practice round blamed the mood on the absence of most of the name players, wrapping up play at the Greater Greensboro Open.

"It will pick up when the rest of the players get here," said defending champion Gay Brewer.

Players in the lock room watched television broadcasts commemorating the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, Nobel Prize-winning civil rights leader whose burial was set for today.

Then they went back to their golf.

The Masters was on. No ceremonies were planned to mark King's burial in Atlanta, 170 miles to the northwest.

The Negro corps of caddies, waiters and waitresses planned to keep working.

"I am very sympathetic to Dr. King," one caddie said. "But I'll be here. I got a family to feed."

Gold Cup Winnings To Mrs. King

Fuller said that about $62,000 would be turned over to Mrs. King and the money could be used for scholarships in memory of the slain civil rights leader, or for whatever use she prefers.

The winner's share from Saturday's Gold Cup race at Bowie was $77,415. The difference was received by the trainer and jockey.

"I met Dr. King at Boston University several years ago when he was to be honored with a doctorate," Fuller said Monday.

Buccaneers, Chaparrals Pay Tonight

By The Associated Press

The New Orleans Buccaneers and the Dallas Chaparrals get the professional basketball playoff ball rolling again tonight.

It will be the first action in either the American Basketball Association or the National Basketball Association since last Saturday because of mourning for Dr. Martin Luther King, the slain civil rights leader.

The ABA Western Division finals games between division champion New Orleans and Dallas will be in Dallas instead of New Orleans as originally scheduled. New Orleans leads the best-of-7 set 1-0.

Eastern champion Pittsburgh and Minnesota will resume their series Wednesday night in Minneapolis. The teams are tied 1-1.

Both NBA playoff series also resume Wednesday night, with Philadelphia at Boston in the Eastern Division finals and San Francisco at Los Angeles in the West. Boston leads the defending league champion 76ers 1-0 and Los Angeles holds the same margin over San Francisco.

Williams Of Iowa Named Big Ten MVP

CHICAGO (AP) — Sam Williams of Iowa has been named the Big Ten's most valuable basketball player.

Williams, who set three Hawkeye season records, including 632 points the past season, edged Bill Hosket of Ohio State in the run for Silver Basketball awarded by the Chicago Tribune.

The voting was conducted by a 23-man panel including 10 conference coaches and 10 Big Ten officials.

High Altitude To Hurt Long Distance Runners

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have come up with yes and no answers to the question:

"Will Mexico City's high altitude bother athletes in the Olympic Games next October?"

New records may be set, the experts concluded, in events requiring spurts of energy, such as the 100-meter dash, the pole vault, the shot put, and competition depending more on skill than on muscular power.

But athletes in stamina contests, such as the long-distance runners, swimmers and competitors in similar events, may be in for trouble.

The problem is that there is about 25 per cent less oxygen at Mexico City's 7,800-foot altitude than there is at sea level.

A study of the problem by a group of international experts was reviewed by the Pan-American Health Organization.

The specialists conceded much will depend on individual performance but "there is only an outside chance of participants in endurance sports setting new world records."

In stamina contests, the athlete is fueled with aerobic energy—the kind dependent on oxygen. Dr. Rodolfo Margaria of the Institute of Human Physiology, Milan, Italy, said this is the kind needed for an event lasting more than 90 seconds.

Dr. Alberto Hurtado of Cayetano Heredia University, Lima, Peru, put it this way:

Race Riot Curtails ABC Bowling

Competition was called off during the course of the evening events after city officials ordered a curfew during racial rioting. The curfew meant the closing of all businesses houses and the like.

None of the bowlers who got in their licks was able to crack the list of leaders in any division.

Bowler Session Set

Bowling team captains and any other bowlers interested in the re-opening of the Tri-State Lanes will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Vernon Dell Dairy, Herb Thompson announced.

W. Beaver Banquet Set For May 9

The sports banquet sponsored by the Western Beaver Boosters Club will be held May 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the high school.

Featured speaker will be Charles Klausing, head football coach and director of athletics at Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Ondra is president of the boosters club.

Six Lisbon Grid Stars Pick Colleges

Six players from Lisbon High's fine 9-1 football team of last season have gotten scholarships to various colleges in the area.

The Morgan twins, Jim and John, will attend Akron. Jim is an all-state guard and John a fullback.

Gary Toot, an all-state defensive back and a halfback on offense, will attend Geneva. Bill Hartman, center - linebacker, has offers from Geneva and Ashland, and has not yet made up his mind. Mike Rutecki, who played quarterback and halfback, will attend Wooster, and Roger Crowell, a defensive middle guard, will attend Thiel.

NHL Playoffs Resuming Tonight

By The Associated Press

Two straight Stanley Cup hockey setbacks have left the Boston Bruins in a belligerent mood. Harry Sinden hopes they stay that way for tonight's clash with mighty Montreal.

"We have to start skating and start hitting," Coach Sinden said Monday as the brawny Bruins prepared to tackle the Canadiens at Boston tonight.

The New York Rangers entertain the Chicago Black Hawks and the Los Angeles Kings visit the Minnesota North Stars in other National Hockey League playoff action tonight. The Philadelphia Flyers take on the St. Louis Blues Wednesday night at St. Louis.

The latter three games were set back from earlier scheduled dates in deference to the period of national mourning for slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King.

Montreal downed the visiting Bruins 2-1 and 5-3 last week for a commanding lead in their best-of-7 quarter-final set. The Rangers are one up on the Hawks, having taken the series opener 3-1 last Thursday night.

The Kings swept their first two games against Minnesota on home ice. Philadelphia and St. Louis are tied at one victory apiece as their set moves to the Blues' ice.

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Monroe of Baltimore is the only unanimous choice on this season's National Basketball Association All-Rookie team announced today.

Sports Events Gradually Resuming

By The Associated Press

The sports community begins stirring again tonight after three days of postponements in tribute to the slain civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King.

There was some horse racing scheduled today, notably Keeneland in Kentucky, but many tracks called off their programs.

Tonight the National Hockey League playoffs resume, with Montreal at Boston, Chicago at New York and Los Angeles at Minnesota. The Montreal at Boston game was regularly scheduled for tonight. The other two were rescheduled.

Pro basketball playoff action also resumes tonight with an American Basketball Association game between New Orleans and Dallas at Dallas. The game originally was set for New Orleans Sunday night.

Wednesday the major league baseball season opens and horse racing returns to a full schedule. The National Basketball Association playoffs also resume Wednesday and action in the ABA and NHL continues.

Ben Franklin Elected To Swim Hall

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fifteen persons, including Benjamin Franklin, have been elected to the International Swimming Hall of Fame, it was announced Monday night.

Franklin, the famed printer, author, scientist and public official of the 18th centurv, was described as America' first internationally famous swimmer, swimming teacher and swimming writer.

Swimming was Franklin's most impressive talent as a young man and he once swam three miles down the Thames River in England.

Buck Dawson, spokesman for the organization, said others elected to the hall of fame by vote of 1,500 swimming coaches included:

Zoltan de Halmay of Hungary, only man to win medals in five Olympics; Dorothy Pointon-Hill, United States, two-time Olympic George Hogdson, Canada, winner of two gold medals in the 1912 Games; and Dr. Sammy Lee, United States, two-time high diving Olympic winner.

All will be enshrined in the Hall of Fame when its new building is dedicated here in December. Some 71 swimmers have now been elected.

Boston May Boycott Olympics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ralph Boston, the world record holder in the long jump, said Monday night he may boycott the Olympic Games because of the death of the civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

In a telephone interview with the Los Angeles Times, Boston said he originally decided not to boycott the Games in Mexico City this October because he didn't think "the Games should be used as a political crutch."

But Boston, at home at Nashville, Tenn., Monday night, said he wanted to represent the Negro but didn't want to represent "people like the man who killed Martin Luther King."

"Everybody gave him a hard time when he was alive," Boston said of Dr. King. "Now they're eulogizing him. Where were these phonies when the man was doing what he believed in?"

"My conscience is working awfully hard. I want to do what is right," he said.

5 Killed, 22 Injured

Pilot Credited In Saving 121 With Crash Landing

LONDON (AP) — One engine caught fire and fell off and the left wing was in flames. But Capt. Charles Taylor landed the big jetliner and "we must owe our lives to him," said one of the 121 survivors.

Five of the 126 persons aboard were killed and 22 injured in the crash landing Monday at London Airport. Survivors and officials of British Overseas Airways Corp—BOAC—said the skill and courage of the pilot, a New Zealander, prevented a much more serious accident.

Two minutes after the Boeing 707 jetliner took off from London for Sydney, Australia, "I looked and saw the side was all in flames," said passenger Bill Deitsch, 27, of Teaneck, N.J.

"I remember thinking, 'We've got a choice. Either he lands the plane or the wing will fall off and we will have had it.' "

"The fire was growing all the time, but the pilot brought the aircraft round and we landed three minutes later," Deitsch said.

"It was a beautiful landing. The pilot was brilliant. He really was brilliant."

Everything seemed "beautifully under control," said another passenger, Miss Helena Morcom Taylor. "As we landed nice, soothing music was still coming through the loudspeakers.

"One or two gentlemen stood aside to let the women get off first down the escape chute. I thought that was very nice and, with the music playing, rather like the Titanic."

BOAC said an engine of the preparing to take off from same plane caught fire as it was Honolulu late last year. The plane was stopped before it left the ground and there were no casualties.

Sir Giles Guthrie, chairman of the government-owned airline, told newsmen: "This was the plane's first flight out—except for a test flight—following a major overhaul." He said BOAC's investigation would try to determine why the fire extinguishers were not working, why the fire warning system was not working and why the engine caught fore.

W. Va. State Offices, Liquor Stores Close For King Rites

CHARLESTON — All State Capitol offices and all liquor stores across the state were closed today in observance of the funeral of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, slain civil rights leader.

In a statement issued to state employes the Board of Public Works said:

"This is not a holiday for you. It is an opportunity for you to study and reflect upon our future and the part you will take in it.

"The loss of Dr. King leaves a void in moderate leadership, a fertile field for both black and white extremists to further divide our country. It is our sincere wish your thoughts will give a personal plan, a plan that will help you stand and be counted as an American citizen.

In related developments, Bluefield State College classes were called off today, three days prior to the regular start of Easter holidays. Classes at West Virginia State are also off, but will resume Wednesday.

State labor federation leader said the AFL-CIO is sending contributions to the striking sanitation workers in Memphis, Tenn., on whose behalf Dr. King had been organizing a march.

Meanwhile police at Wheeling beefed up their squads and issued more weapons in the face of the second straight night of violent demonstrations there Monday.

Police had cordoned off a four or five block area of the northeast section of downtown Wheeling late Monday, but said no serious incidents were expected.

There was no indciation of the amount of damages resulting from the outbursts. No arrests were made and there were no injuries.

2 IN MEMORIAM

IN loving memory of William Truman Bailey who passed away 5 years ago today, April 9, 1963. We miss thee from our home, dear father, We miss thee from thy place, A shadow o'er our life is cast. We miss the sunshine of thy face, We miss thy fond and earnest care. Our home is dark without thee—We miss thee everywhere.

—Missed by wife and children.

In loving memory of Ed Green:

The spring that we loved
Has come back again,
With blue cloudless skies
And soft falling rain.

We walked in the sun
For lovely hours on end.
The spring will be lonely
No use to pretend.

I will go to those chosen spots
That only we knew;
For somehow I know
That you'll be there too.

I miss you.

3 CARDS OF THANKS

IN memory of Alex Robert Ross, who passed away one year ago today, April 9, 1967. Sadly missed by wife, Mabel.

The Family of the late H. C. (Sammie) Ralston wishes to thank the many friends and neighbors that expressed their sympathy during the loss of our loved one. To know you were near and cared, helped make our sorrow a little easier to bear. God bless you. —Mr. & Mrs. Jack Anderson. Mr. & Mrs. Don Ralston.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRD EGGS

QUESTION: What is a bird's egg made of?

ANSWER: A bird's egg is a snug casing in which the embryo chick begins to develop. The rigid shell consists chiefly of carbonate of lime which, besides protecting the embryo, gives it calcium for bone-building purposes. The egg shell is thin and porous so that air and water may pass through. A good - sized air supply soon forms inside. The most important part inside a new egg is the little germ on the upper surface of the central yellow yolk. This develops into the embryo which later becomes the chick. The yolk and the white outside it serve as food — exactly right for the developing bird. Warmth is another thing needed. The mother provides this as she sits on her eggs. The big egg in our picture is that of aepyornis, the huge bird to the right. This gigantic creature, weighing up to 1000 pounds, is now extinct, but once lived on the island of Madagascar off the African coast, so recently that several eggs have been preserved. You will probably have recognized the tiniest egg, that of the hummingbird. Newly born hummer chicks are so small that four of them can fit comfortably in the bowl of a teaspoon.

Rose Takeda of Pueblo, Colo., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's World Yearbook if your question, mailed to Junior Editors on a postcard in care of The Review, is selected for a prize.

ANSWER: A bird's egg is a snug casing in which the embryo chick begins to develop. The rigid shell consists chiefly of carbonate of lime which, besides protecting the embryo, gives it calcium for bone-building purposes. The egg shell is thin and porous so that air and water may pass through. A good - sized air supply soon forms inside. The most important part inside a new egg is the little germ on the upper surface of the central yellow yolk. This develops into the embryo which later becomes the chick. The yolk and the white outside it serve as food — exactly right for the developing bird. Warmth is another thing needed. The mother provides this as she sits on her eggs. The big egg in our picture is that of aepyornis, the huge bird to the right. This gigantic creature, weighing up to 1000 pounds, is now extinct, but once lived on the island of Madagascar off the African coast, so recently that several eggs have been preserved. You will probably have recognized the tiniest egg, that of the hummingbird. Newly born hummer chicks are so small that four of them can fit comfortably in the bowl of a teaspoon.
